Martial Law Looms in Spanish Crisis

GROWING GLAMOR AGAINST MONARCH ALARMS PREMIER

Demonstrators Cry 'Down With Monarchy,' 'Hurrah for Republic' on Madrid Streets.

POLICE ARE STONED DURING NIGHT RIOTS

Political Meetings Are Banned by Government in Effort To Quell Increasing Revolt.

MADRID, Feb. 28.—(AP)—The Spanish government today gave serious consideration to the demonstration for a republic and against the monarchy in Spain which flared up in Madrid and Barcelona after the speech of former Premier Sanchez Guerra last night.

King Alfonso is believed to have discussed the political situation at his regular conference with Premier Damso Berenguer, who also received the visits of several army leaders, who presumably came to see him on the same errand.

Meanwhile, the government announced that it would have to "take whatever energetic measures are necessary," and appealed to the citizens to maintain order.

General Marza, minister of the interior, declared "the government could not have been more tolerant than it has been. I am most pained that that tolerance is being abused by the elements causing the disturbance."

Lacking in Importance.

Premier Berenguer, who already has brought back the firm domestic censorship on the press established by the De Rivera dictatorship, is believed to be ready to proclaim martial law if the situation should warrant it.

It remains to be seen, however, whether the republican movement yet contains the germs of serious developments. Some well-informed observers think it does not, and this is the expressed view of Premier Berenguer himself.

He told newspapermen that the disorders that took place were "lacking in importance," but that they "served to demonstrate that the government cannot permit all of a sudden, the spread of political propaganda."

"We must, on the contrary, put on the brakes, because certain elements which have nothing whatever to do with politics take advantage of these opportunities to further their own ends."

Former Premier Sanchez Guerra, who in a public speech last night admitted there was a movement stronger than before for a republic and declared he could no longer support King Alfonso, was a center of interest today for all other political leaders.

Medical Students Riot.

This speech met with a varied reception. Premier Berenguer is deeply regretted the former liberal premier's attitude toward the king, but felt he could not yet "pass an opinion on this matter."

Alejandro Lerroux, socialist leader and chief of the republicans, flatly declared that he was not satisfied with it. In radical quarters it was recognized that, though Sanchez Guerra apparently had broken with the king, he had not yet declared openly for a republic.

The major student disorders following Sanchez Guerra's speech last night had an echo today in a demonstration by medical students. Groups appeared on the balconies of the university shouting "Down with the monarchy!" "Hurrah for the republic!"

The government announced that a ban would be placed on all political speeches, believing that freedom of speech was unwise under present conditions. Guards were increased and reserves were in readiness in case of disorder.

Guards at Prison Drive Plane Away

AUBURN, N. Y., Feb. 28.—(AP)—State troopers on the walls of Auburn prison tonight fired upon and drove off an airplane that circled low over Auburn prison several times. It was feared the plane was trying to drop arms into the yard or signal to some prisoner.

The 90 troopers on duty manned the walls and the machine guns were pointed.

Officers reported they were ready for the plane should it return. It flew toward the west when fired upon. The yard had not yet been searched for anything it might have dropped.

SNOOK CONFESSES MURDER PLANNED

Dies Bravely in Silence But Warden Says He Admitted Death Plan.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Feb. 28.—(AP)—The Cleveland Plain Dealer and the Columbus Dispatch tomorrow morning will print a copyrighted story written by Warden P. E. Thomas, of the Ohio penitentiary, stating that Dr. James H. Snook told him prior to his execution that he had deliberately planned the slaying of Miss Theora Hix.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Feb. 28.—(AP)—Displaying the same iron nerve that carried him through six months of residence in the deathhouse at Ohio State penitentiary, Dr. James H. Snook, university professor, went to his death in the electric chair tonight for the murder of his co-ed companion, Theora Hix.

The current was turned on at 7:04 and he was pronounced dead at 7:09:20 p. m. He received three contacts of 1,000 volts each.

Dr. Snook appeared to be the calmest man in the execution chamber. He was accompanied by three guards. His eyes were red-rimmed as he had cried after his last meeting with his wife. He walked with firm step and head erect. As two chair guards took him by the arms, the doctor stepped forward briskly and sat down in the death chair.

He was accompanied into the room by two ministers, Rev. Isaac Miller, of the King Avenue M. E. church, his pastor, and the Rev. K. E. Wall, prison chaplain. The deathhouse was crowded with spectators.

Two guards took the doctor by the arms and strapped him in the death chair. Another adjusted the mask.

A second later, the chief deputy passed the signal to three unnamed guards and the doctor surged under the first electric contact. After three contacts, the first at 7:05:15 p. m., and the last at 7:09:20 p. m., the current was shut off. For three minutes five physicians waited. Headed by Dr. George W. Keil, the prison doctor, the physicians examined Dr. Snook. The prison physician was not satisfied, and three he returned to the chair to place his sensitive instrument on the doctor's chest.

Finally at 7:11 p. m., he stepped back and said: "Gentlemen, sufficient current has passed through this man's body to cause death."

Snook said nothing as he entered the deathhouse. His lips were clasped tight, and he did not open them. He gazed fixedly at the witnesses until the death mask was set in place.

Shortly before the execution Mrs. Helen Snook, wife of the condemned man, who broke bread with her husband from the prison by two friends, was seen in a state of collapse and was able to walk only with the aid of one of her escorts.

During the electrocution Mrs. Snook, her ankle injured slightly, sat in Warden Thomas' residence in the penitentiary building. In addition to Mrs. Snook two others had the final meal with Dr. Snook, Oscar Rodell, of Pomona, a close friend of Dr. Snook, and Mrs. Frank Landrum, a cousin of Mrs. Snook and a resident of Junction City, Ohio.

Hundreds of curious gathered outside the prison walls while the execution was in progress, and until newspapermen rushed from the main door. The reporters were besieged, the stock question being "has he gone?" Police kept the crowd moving as best they could, but on the street upon which the penitentiary faces, thousands of automobiles, containing curious moved by slowly, gazing at the forbidding prison walls.

Rev. Miller after the execution said that Dr. Snook was calm and quiet just before he started his walk to the death chair. The minister said he bore up well when he parted with Mrs. Snook, the wife who has stood by his side ever since the law took the professor in its toils and adjudged him guilty of the killing of his co-ed mistress.

Dr. Miller declared that Snook's final words "will never be known." He refused to amplify this statement, but it was evident that even though Dr. Snook was calm when he bade his wife the last farewell, but his calmness as the death march started, for the testimony of tears was evident in his bloodshot eyes.

House Dynamited After Machine Guns, Small Cannon and Tear Gas Prove of No Avail.

DEFIANCE, Ohio, Feb. 28.—(AP)—After battling police and national guardsmen for three hours, Henry Floehr, 60, escaped inmate from the Toledo state hospital for the insane, was killed tonight by an explosion of dynamite which was thrown into his barricaded home.

Eight sticks of dynamite were thrown at the head of the stairway of the Floehr home. From the upstairs Floehr, armed with a pistol, had held the police at bay. His body was found in the corner of an upstairs room.

Floehr killed his wife after an argument tonight and wounded three others from his place of fortification.

As the dynamite was set at the door of the upstairs closet in which Floehr had hidden after police and soldiers broke into the house, members of the Dynamite Howitzer company, of the Ohio National Guard hammered 21-pound shots through the upper windows from a station about half a block away. Bullets from a machine gun also peppered the house. The windows of the house were shattered by bullets. Tear gas failed to bring Floehr out.

Part of the roof of the house was blown off by the dynamite.

While a crowd gathered police and deputies had stormed through the front door of the house and run up the stairs to where the man was shooting down into the crowd. Floehr then took refuge in the closet.

A fire truck had been called to extinguish Floehr with a stream of water if necessary, and as a last resort the shooting down into the crowd. Floehr then took refuge in the closet.

Excitement was intense around the place while police endeavored to hold back a crowd of spectators from the line of the man's bullets.

The gun battle started after an argument between Floehr and his wife over a daughter, Elsie, a school teacher. According to a son, William, the father in a rage grabbed a pistol and threatened his wife with it. The son, named, ran for aid.

The wife's body was found later. Those wounded by Floehr were Chief of Police Carl Eganer and two spectators.

Floehr's son told police his father, in a rage, shot his mother in his presence. The son attempted to carry his mother outside, but she was turned on him and he dropped the body and fled for aid.

Police and deputies were summoned. When they attempted to enter, Floehr fired a pistol and shot through the glass.

Chief Eganer, braving the gunfire, led a squad through the front door and threw a tear gas bomb to the head of the stairs. As he started to mount the stairs, Floehr shot him, inflicting a minor wound in the cheek, below the eye.

From his point of vantage the man fired at any who approached.

One shot struck William Chappel, a spectator, in the hip. Another spectator, Newell Little Field, of Newport, Maine, a senior in Defiance college, was shot through the chest and his condition tonight was critical.

As the tear gas failed to take effect, the police retreated and summoned the fire truck. The police department, however, that a stream of water would be ineffective and the National Guard company then was called.

The company planted a one-pound gun about a half block away from the house and sent shots through the upper windows. A machine gun also was positioned beside it to send a supplemental barrage. While this barrage was forcing Floehr to flee, the battle, with the patter of rifle fire and the roar of the one-pounder, attracted pedestrians and motorists for miles around. A crowd of 3,000 gathered at the height of the fight, showing encouragement to the attackers.

Floehr escaped from the State Hospital for the Insane last April after having been there only a month. He was a retired builder and contractor. The couple is survived by two sons and four daughters.

A committee of five, representing the city and Chamber of Commerce of this city, was appointed to judge the qualifications of the score of candidates.

The Record's search ended today. William E. Gonzales, editor-in-chief of the State morning newspaper here, was the unanimous selection of the judges.

Wife of Secretary To President Dies

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—(AP)—Mrs. Lawrence Richey, wife of one of President Hoover's secretaries, died today.

Mrs. Richey died of septic poisoning coupled with meningitis. She became ill shortly after her return to Washington a week ago from Long Key, Fla., where she had accompanied her husband on the fishing trip of President Hoover.

SENATE REJECTS TAIRIFF ON OIL IN ANGRY DEBATE

Thomas Charges Independents Face Extinction; Hoover's Name Freely Banded.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—(AP)—Climaxing one of the most dramatic scenes in the long tariff controversy, the senate tonight rejected by a dozen votes the Thomas proposal for a tariff on oil and gasoline.

The roll call which came shortly after 10 o'clock showed 39 against a tariff and 27 for it.

The amendment voted upon, as introduced by Senator Thomas, democrat, Oklahoma, would have placed a tax on foreign crude oil of $1 a barrel and on gasoline and other by-products of petroleum of 50 per cent ad valorem based on American valuation.

Just prior to the final vote, the senate rejected, 57 to 8, a rider by Senator Pittman, democrat, Nevada, which would have terminated the tariff on January 1, 1934, and made it operative meanwhile if the price of crude oil at the point of production in either Oklahoma or Texas exceeded $1.75 a barrel. Pittman proposed this as a guard against overproduction which he said he feared would result from a tariff.

Hoover's Name Banded.

Another rider by the Nevada senator to make the proposed duty on by-products ineffective during the four-year period if the retail price of gasoline went above 18 cents a gallon at New York city, exclusive of purchasers' tax, was rejected without a record vote.

Cries of "vote-trading" on sugar and oil resounded throughout the chamber at the second night session on the Hawley-Smoot bill as Senator Blaine, republican, Wisconsin, charged the American Independent Petroleum Producers' Association with attempting to influence senators to trade on the two commodities and with being "even willing to trade the president of the United States in on this deal."

Blaine asserted that the officers of the association planned to carry out the tariff on oil and gasoline. He was prevalent in the continental oil region that he (the president) was a "P. County" were needed to carry out and to extract from him a denial and then use that denial to advance their cause.

Seventeen republicans and 22 democrats voted against the tariff. The amendment, while 20 republicans and 7 democrats supported it. The roll call follows:

The Vote.

Republicans for a Tariff—Allen, Baird, Capper, Cutting, Fess, Goff, Goldsborough, Grundy, Hastings, Hatfield, Johnson, Jones, Keen, Patterson, Pine, Robinson, Shortridge, Stewart, Watson and Watson—20.

Democrats For—Gratton, Bruns, Caraway, Connally, Randall, Sheppard and Thomas of Oklahoma—27.

Grand Total For—47.

Republicans Against—Blaine, Borah, Dale, Frazier, Hales, Keyes, La Follette, McNamara, Metcalf, Norbeck, Norris, Nye, Robinson of Indiana, Schall, Smoot, Vandenberg and Walcott—17.

Democrats Against—Ashurst, Bailey, Black, Brand, Copeland, Dill, Fletcher, George, Harris, Harrison, Hawes, Hayden, Heflin, McKellar, Pittman, Smith, Stock, Stephens, Swanson, Trammell, Walsh of Massachusetts and Walsh of Montana—22.

Grand Total Against—39.

The following were announced as paired for the tariff: Phelps, Thomas, Howard, Townsend, Moses, Herbert, Sullivan, Glenn and Oddie, republicans, and Kendrick, democrat.

Those paired against it were: Coughlin, Howell, Green, Gillett, republicans; Wheeler, Tydings, Wagner and Simmons, democrats; and Shipstead, farmer-labor, Minnesota.

Just before the vote on his amendment to place a duty on oil, which was defeated, Senator Thomas took full responsibility for the presence of the independent oil producers in Washington.

A cut was made in the price of oil last month, he said, which made it impossible for the independent operators to do business.

"I sent word to Franklin," he added, "that the only chance he had of getting relief was to bring men to Washington who knew the business and not to send high pressure lobbyists."

He added that the men who came here "represented the best men in Oklahoma, Kansas, Texas and Colorado. They came here at my invitation and I take full responsibility for the presence of the independent oil producers in Washington."

The owners of the liquor, told Woodward that Thompson, at the time told him he was Deputy Prohibition Administrator E. C. Landry, of Alexandria, and instructed them to report to the federal building today.

Dr. Dawson Allen, of Milledgeville, Named Again in Manley Case

Dr. Dawson Allen, of Allen's Invalid Home at Milledgeville, was re-indicted by a federal grand jury here Friday afternoon on charges of perjury growing out of his testimony during the investigation of the case against W. D. Manley, convicted bank head, last October.

Allen was previously indicted October 11 of last year on the grounds that he had sworn that Manley's physical and mental condition made it impossible for him to stand trial when he knew that such was not the case.

It was explained by the district attorney's office here that the additional indictment had been presented to make the case "air tight" and it is understood that the trial will probably take place in April.

The indictment charges that Allen did "commit the offense of perjury" while the grand jury was investigating an alleged unlawful conspiracy to corruptly obstruct and impede justice in the trial of the case against Manley.

The original indictment contains three counts, one of which charges perjury in connection with his testimony about "Charles Seymour," an undercover agent who took a room near Manley's in Allen's Invalid Home for the purpose of investigating his actions. Allen, it is declared, testified that "Seymour" was mentally incompetent to be a witness.

Enraged Woman Prisoner Charged With Setting Fire to Her Own Cot.

Firemen from four companies, three stalwart detectives and Night City Police P. County were needed to quell a fire and a near-panic that broke out in the women's ward of the city police station shortly before midnight Friday night.

Justice Stone dropped in the afternoon for Bryn Mawr college, Pennsylvania, where she is acting president of the trip was necessary for business reasons, but Mrs. Manning planned to return to Washington tonight.

Many Notables Visit.

There was a long list of distinguished visitors at the Taft home today. The most picturesque visitation was that of Mrs. Charles McVeagh, wife of the former ambassador to Japan. She arrived in a horse-drawn coupe, the coachmen and footmen on the coachmen's box.

Two associates of Mr. Taft while he was in the justice were among the callers. They were Justices Sanford, the first visitor of the day, and Stone. Both men live in the vicinity of the Taft residence.

Justice Stone dropped in several times to inquire of newspapermen concerning Mr. Taft's condition and finally posted his secretary in front of the house to relay to him and Mrs. Stone bulletins on Mr. Taft's condition.

Paul Claudel, the French ambassador, stopped for a few minutes and the British embassy sent a representative to express solicitude to Mrs. Taft.

Mrs. Dolly Gann, sister of the vice president, also stopped to see Mrs. Taft.

For the first time a police detail was stationed before the Taft home in an effort to keep down street noises. The streets were shut off into one-way traffic and a large number of sightseeing buses drove past the Taft home, the passengers staring curiously at the white house and the imposing three-story red brick house.

McCandless Hurt In Auto Accident

E. S. McCandless, prominent Atlanta, of 1940 Peachtree street, was seriously injured Friday night when he was struck by a car, said to have been driven by J. S. Dickson, of 1068 Leeder circle, N. E.

The accident occurred at the intersection of Courtland and Harris streets.

Mr. McCandless, according to reports of Call Officers Luke Ratledge and Ed Norwood, was walking across Courtland street when he was hit by the machine. Physicians at a local hospital, to which the victim was taken, expressed the opinion that Mr. McCandless was suffering from a broken pelvis and a fractured right leg.

No case was made against the driver of the car at the request of members of the McCandless family.

Rum Runners Squeal On Young Hi-Jackers

ALEXANDRIA, La., Feb. 28.—(AP)—Three young men who last night allegedly hijacked 15 gallons of whiskey from a rum running automobile by pretending they were government dry officers were today arrested by John Woodward, Pineville, La., marshal, and charged with impersonating federal agents.

Woodward says that the three men arrested, Herman Thompson, Pollock; Curtis Rice, of Pineville, and Milton Walker, of Dry Prong, halted a liquor car on a highway near Alexandria and took its load of wet goods under guise of government confiscation.

The owners of the liquor, told Woodward that Thompson, at the time told him he was Deputy Prohibition Administrator E. C. Landry, of Alexandria, and instructed them to report to the federal building today.

Taft, Speechless, Weakening Fast

SANITARIUM HEAD IS INDICTED AGAIN

Flicker of Smile Sole Sign of Recognition as Son Reaches Bedside; May Linger Many Hours.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—(UN)—The remarkable vitality of William Howard Taft tonight was still staying off the death which his physicians said was only a matter of hours.

The former chief justice was cheered by the visit of his son, Robert A. Taft, of Cincinnati, but was too weak to respond to his words. Mr. Taft recognized his son, and smiled wanly as the younger man came to his bedside.

Mrs. Francis Hagner and Thomas Clayton, after morning and afternoon visits at the Taft home, said Mr. Taft was slightly weaker and had been able to take little nourishment. This was taken to indicate that Mr. Taft was slipping gradually into death. After the night visit the doctors said there was no change in his condition.

Is Semi-Conscious.

Dr. Clayton, after his evening visit, said Mr. Taft was semi-conscious and although there was no apparent change in his strength, it undoubtedly was true that a gradual though undistinguishable sinking was in progress.

He said a period of complete unconsciousness probably would precede death, although in cases of this kind the end sometimes comes suddenly. In his professional capacity he has known patients linger for five days, totally unconscious, he said.

Mr. Taft realizes what is going on about him, he appreciates things that are said to him, but is unable to speak.

During the evening visit he recognized Dr. Clayton, smiled again, and moved his lips as if anxious to speak.

Mrs. Helen Taft Manning, who has been with her father and mother during the last several days, left during the afternoon for Bryn Mawr college, Pennsylvania, where she is acting president of the trip was necessary for business reasons, but Mrs. Manning planned to return to Washington tonight.

UTILITY BUILDING PROGRAM IN 1930 OF $1,400,000,000

Sloan Reports on Work To Be Done as Aid to Employment.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—(AP)—President Hoover made public today a report estimating that public utility construction expenditures during 1930 would exceed $1,400,000,000 and affect every city and town in the country.

The report, made to the chief executive by Matthew S. Sloan, chairman of his committee on expedition of public utility construction to aid employment, said the program now under way had been accelerated.

Sloan, who is president of the Brooklyn Edison Company, said there had been no great modification of the utilities program outlined in November and that a canvass had shown that those plans probably would be somewhat expanded.

"Information completed yesterday indicates that the total expenditures for new construction already made this year or to be made by March 31, by electric, gas and street railway companies will aggregate $305,000,000. Sloan's report said.

"This amount is 12 per cent higher than corresponding expenditures during the first quarter of 1929." Since the total estimated expenditures for new construction during the entire year 1930 are $1,400,000,000, more than for 1929, this indicates that the construction program now under way has been accelerated."

He said a period of complete unconsciousness probably would precede death, although in cases of this kind the end sometimes comes suddenly. In his professional capacity he has known patients linger for five days, totally unconscious, he said.

Tardieu Information Cheers Naval Arms Conference

Americans and Japanese Continue Effort To Agree on Subs, Cruisers.

BY FRANK H. KING, Associated Press Staff Writer.
LONDON, Feb. 28.—(AP)—The news from Paris this afternoon that Andre Tardieu had definitely informed President Doumergue he would form a cabinet gave naval conference circles encouragement that the present dragging phase of disarmament negotiations may be ended a day or two earlier than expected.

The supposition is that the French delegation may be able to return to London by the middle of next week. It is admitted everywhere no rapid progress can be made until the French join the four delegations waiting them.

Meanwhile the Americans and Japanese will continue their efforts, as they did yesterday and today, to reach a compromise agreement on cruisers, submarines and other disputed points. The only meeting today was when Ambassador Matsudaira called upon Senator Reed to clear up points of yesterday's discussion.

Prime Minister MacDonald convened the United Kingdom delegates at Downing street this noon, and with that the conference work was just about completed until Monday.

While the American and Japanese conferences have not produced definite agreement, they may serve the very useful purpose of clearing the ground for a quick approach to and settlement of Pacific problems next week.

In conference circles and among observers it is believed that once the conference is going agreements would come so quickly that the criticism which has arisen here and in the

Judge Moore Makes Citizenship Address

Judge Virlyn B. Moore, of Fulton county superior court, Thursday night was the principal speaker at the "Daddies' Night" celebration of the Grove Park school at the Grove Park Baptist church. He spoke on "Citizenship." A large audience was present, parents of children in every grade attending.

R. L. Ramsey, supervisor of Fulton county public schools, delivered a speech on education.

Students of the institution presented a patriotic pantomime.

Walter Hendrix, Fulton county commissioner, spoke of his interest in education, and declared it had been a distinct pleasure to have the support of his colleagues in passing an appropriation for construction of a new Grove Park school. The new building will be ready for occupancy next September, according to plans.

Brand Part in Farm Loan Colloquy in House Given

"Record" Clearly Shows How Georgian Defended State From Slander.

BY FRANCIS W. CLARKE.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 28.—(Special.)—There is some confusion in press reports of the colloquy in which Congressman Brand, of Georgia, took part during the debate upon the farm loan bill carrying an authorization for appropriation of $7,000,000 for the people of the different states of the flood-stricken areas, including Georgia. In fairness to Congressman Brand the facts should be stated accurately.

Congressman Loxier, of Missouri, in supporting the amendment of Congressman Short, of Missouri, to include Missouri in the list, made two statements—one being that the agricultural committee hadn't made any investigation of the southern states as to the necessity for these loans, the other one being an arraignment of the farm loan bill carrying an authorization for appropriation of $7,000,000 for the people of the different states of the flood-stricken areas, including Georgia. In fairness to Congressman Brand the facts should be stated accurately.

At this point Congressman Brand turned around, with his back to the speaker and facing Mr. Loxier, who was two or three seats from him, and, pointing his finger at him, said: "what you said about the south, and particularly Georgia, is not the truth by a damned sight." This was heard not only by Congressman Loxier, but was heard by many other members of congress with apparent approval. Mr. Loxier remained silent and made no reply. This ended the incident.

At this point Congressman Brand turned around, with his back to the speaker and facing Mr. Loxier, who was two or three seats from him, and, pointing his finger at him, said: "what you said about the south, and particularly Georgia, is not the truth by a damned sight." This was heard not only by Congressman Loxier, but was heard by many other members of congress with apparent approval. Mr. Loxier remained silent and made no reply. This ended the incident.

attitude of beggars which he said had been in vogue in several years. Congressman Loxier, of Georgia, a member of the committee on agriculture, by unanimous consent took the floor and delivered the following statement: "Mr. Loxier, asserting that a thorough investigation had been made not only by the department of agriculture but by the agricultural committee of the house in regard to the necessity for these loans in the states of Georgia, Alabama, Florida, South Carolina, North Carolina and Virginia. While Judge Larsen was making this reply to Congressman Loxier, Congressman Brand asked if Judge Larsen would yield for a question. Replying that he would, Mr. Brand then propounded these questions, the quotation being taken from the Record—

"Mr. Brand of Georgia: I heard what the gentleman from Missouri said about the south coming here as a supplicant and obtaining loans of money and his intimation that the south had often done this heretofore. I want to ask the gentleman whether the state of Georgia, being a substantial part of the south, ever came here asking for the loan of money and has been a member of congress or within the history of the government prior to year 1928."

"Mr. Larsen: That is the only time?"

"Mr. Brand of Georgia: Did the gentleman ever hear of it before?"

"Mr. Larsen: No; and it has paid back about 75 per cent of the amount; Georgia about 50 per cent."

"Mr. Brand of Georgia: Is it not also true that Doctor Wagoner stated at the hearing on this bill before the agricultural committee, in answer to a question propounded by me, that of all the loans which have been made by the government during all of the years of its history, a greater percentage of these southern loans have been paid than by any other section of the country where people had borrowed money under any circumstances."

FISH HITS RUSS DRIVE TO ABOLISH RELIGION

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—(P)—Accusing communists in Russia of carrying out a systematic campaign to despoil churches and to exterminate religion, Representative Hamilton Fish, Jr., republican, New York, today asked support in the house of his resolution opposing the recognition of the union of soviet socialist republics.

Fish is a member of the house foreign affairs committee. He recently introduced a resolution which condemned "the persecution and outrages which have been inflicted upon the Christian and Jewish subjects of soviet Russia." The resolution would "express the sense of the congress" that recognition of the soviet government was incompatible with the traditions and institutions of this country until religious persecution in that country has ceased.

The New Yorker said the attack of the soviet government against the Russian church and clergy was not only against them and the people who desired religious worship "but against God and all who profess religious belief."

The purpose of his resolution, Fish said, was to arouse public opinion in the United States and to unite all nations in an effort to persuade the soviet government to revoke decrees "against the freedom of worship and the practice of religious belief."

Asserting that the communist party in 1929 had begun a relentless campaign to uproot and destroy not only the orthodox Russian church but every semblance of religious belief among Jews, Catholics and Protestants, Fish said the persecution against men, women and children for "maintaining their faith in God has had no equal since the 30 years war."

He asserted he did not dispute the right of the soviet to establish any form of government desired without any interference from other nations, but said "when it comes to a question of the destruction of all churches and religious institutions and the execution, imprisonment and exile of priests the whole world stands against and rightly protests against such barbarities, and that sentiment should be proclaimed throughout every civilized country."

MELLON GIVES VIEWS ON DOUBLE TAXATION

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—(P)—Reciprocal exemption, as the best method of avoiding the taxation of the same income, profits or property by this and one or more other countries was advocated before the house ways and means committee today by Secretary Mellon.

Appearing at a hearing on Chairman Hawley's bill to reduce international double taxation, in which have been incorporated his recommendations as to the manner in which this government could participate in a worldwide effort to solve this problem, Mellon said there were two lines of approach.

The first, he said, is by treaty with one or more countries, which involves mutual concessions in respect of the taxation of nationals of the treaty-making countries. He gave as objections to this plan that the concessions were more likely to be based on bargaining than on sound principles of taxation, and that this method resulted in the taxation by the United States of the nationals of different countries on dissimilar bases.

The second plan, he explained, was exemplified by the present law covering the taxation of shipping profits and authorizing the exemption of foreign shipping profits from taxation of American companies are exempt from taxation in foreign countries. "While there are some obvious advantages in the treaty method," he said, "the treasury department believes that what I may call the reciprocal exemption method is the sounder of the two and more in accordance with traditional American policy."

The reciprocal exemption of the items of income considered should not mean a sacrifice of tax revenues by the United States, he said, but an eventual gain. He explained, also, the workings of various other provisions of the plan and said an increase in revenues should result in other instances.

The secretary said the machinery for putting the plan into effect was simple, consisting of extending the application of the principle of reciprocal exemption now observed in the case of shipping profits to dividends, interest and other items of income affected. "It is hoped," he concluded, "that other countries may meet this offer of reciprocal exemption by means of corresponding enactments, just as has been done in the case of shipping profits."

ATTACKERS DEFEATED BY CANAL DEFENDERS

Fleet Loses Decisively in Four Days of Mimic Warfare.

PANAMA CITY, Feb. 28.—(P)—United States military forces defending the Panama canal scored a decisive victory over an attacking fleet in the four-day war game maneuvers just completed here, observers decided. Aerial battles, smoke screens and bombardments by fleet and coast defense were included in the final day's activities. Defense airplanes picked up the attacking fleet at daylight almost 100 miles from the Canal Zone, after having observed activities of destroyers and submarines during the night.

Hours later the attackers launched their long-expected aerial assault. The attacking fleet resorted to smoke screens but unusual atmospheric conditions interfered and the screen fell rapidly.

The fleet attempted to put ashore a landing party but the movement was forestalled by the fire of the coast defense station.

ing school director's ability, and expressed appreciation on behalf of the women of Atlanta for her coming here. Mrs. Miller was also free in her praise of The Constitution for making the school possible.

Mrs. Miller was introduced by Herbert Porter, advertising director of The Constitution. Mr. Porter in making reference to the popularity of the school, said that The Constitution was proud to render this service to the women of Atlanta.

Miss DeBoth was enthusiastically cheered at the close of the session, and many signified a desire for her to return to Atlanta for another course in the near future.

Friday was White Elephant Day at the school, for the particular benefit of the old maids. Last year when Miss DeBoth was here, one session was set aside for the women attending the school to bring their husbands, and they were designated as white elephants.

The stunt wasn't worked again this year, but Miss DeBoth promised a white elephant to all the old maids that would come. About 50 showed up and went to the stage to claim their reward. But all they got was rubber balloons to blow up—white elephants.

Co-operating with The Constitution in making the school the outstanding success that it was, was a number of leading merchants and manufacturers of Atlanta, who contributed the supplies and furnishings used by Miss DeBoth in her demonstrations. McKay, in charge of the division of cooperative marketing for the farm board; three other representatives of the farm board, and J. B. WAYCROSS MAN NAMED BEEKEEPERS' PRESIDENT
BATON ROUGE, La., Feb. 28.—(AP)—J. J. Weller, of Waycross, Ga., was today elected president of the Southern States Beekeepers' conference, at the end of a three-day session here devoted to the problems of bee culture and the honey industry. The conference voted to meet next year in Montgomery, Ala.

At adjournment, the group unanimously adopted resolutions bitterly opposing any legislation tending to nullify and destroy the food and drug act by permitting the use of corn sugar in foods without declaration of its presence on labels of food packages. W. E. Anderson, Baton Rouge, Louisiana state entomologist and retiring president of the conference, in an address, asked the delegates to use their influence in promoting "a better understanding among apian inspectors." He also urged that fewer restrictions and embargoes be placed on the shipment of bees, and that inspectors use caution in doing anything which might restrain trade.

HOOVER COMMISSION ARRIVES AT HAITI

Crowds Greet American Party in Orderly Fashion.

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti, Feb. 28.—(AP)—Members of President Hoover's Haitian commission, appointed to investigate conditions in Haiti and to make recommendations as to the future of American policy in the island republic, arrived at the capital today and were greeted by an orderly popular demonstration.

As the members of the commission drove to the American legation, a crowd of more than 5,000 Haitians followed them carrying banners reading "we want legislative elections" and "The Haitian colors were spread everywhere on houses and on automobiles."

The commissioners, after issuing a statement saying that they would hold open sessions every day except Sunday, went to call on Brigadier General John H. Russell, high commissioner in Haiti, and then on President Borno.

All the demonstrations were orderly, though a number of persons were injured and 13 arrests were made after a fight outside the council of state building last night. A big crowd came down to the pier to see the commissioners come ashore. Haitian guards held the people back.

The statement issued by the commission invited all Haitian citizens to attend the open sessions at the Hotel Excelsior.

It added that "the offices of the commission will be open daily from 9 to 5 p. m. for the receipt of information and making appointments with those who care to appear in person before the commission. It is the desire of the commission that all elements of the Haitian people be heard freely and frankly."

"Citizens who for any reason desire a private interview will be welcomed and their communications will be treated as confidential. The commission will pursue the same course of hearing and interviews at other points in the republic. The purpose of the mission is to gather as completely as humanly possible all the facts concerning the situation."

LOCAL RETAIL TRADE GAINS, REPORT SHOWS

Average of All Other Cities in Sixth District Exceeded by 37.9 Per Cent.

Atlanta's retail trade during January exceeded the average for all other cities reporting the sixth federal reserve district by 37.9 per cent and the amount of building permits exceeded the same cities by 13.7 per cent, according to the monthly business review issued by the Atlanta branch of the federal reserve bank Friday.

While comparative figures were not available, the reserve bank's review says that industrial production showed an increase in January and that factory employment showed a slight increase over December. Department store sales, the report points out, are indicated by preliminary reports to have held about the same level as for the similar period a year ago.

The report showed further that four member banks of the reserve system here on January 30 had savings deposits of $41,209,000 and that 74 banks in the district had an aggregate of $267,861,000, the latter showing an increase of 2.8 per cent over the report at the close of 1929.

Figures for the six states of the sixth district—Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi and Tennessee—indicate increases in the number of cattle, and of milk cows and heifers, mules and sheep. The total value of stock on farms shows an increase of 2.6 per cent over a year ago.

Retail trade in Atlanta during January surpassed the next city in the district by 31.9. It ranked well along with comparative figures for November, 1929, when the other principal cities in the sixth district, Birmingham, Chattanooga, Nashville and New Orleans, showed a heavy decline.

Building permits in Atlanta were 4.4 per cent greater than issued in Nashville during January and showed an increase of 2.7 per cent over December and a January increase over November of 19.3 per cent. No other city in the sixth district showed such an appreciable January gain over the two preceding months.

Consumption of cotton in the cotton-growing states for January showed an increase of 27.9 per cent over the preceding month and exports from the same states showed increases in January over November and December.

Pig iron production in Alabama remained at about the same output volume as for the preceding two months, but the unfilled orders of the United States Steel Company showed an increase. Output of bituminous coal in Alabama and Tennessee averaged somewhat larger during January.

THE DEAN OF JURISTS.

Today is starred on the national calendar by an unusual incident, for this is the 89th birthday anniversary of Oliver Wendell Holmes, the eldest of the justices upon the bench of the supreme court of the United States—the most exalted and powerful court in all Christen-

Justice Holmes is impersonal.

The nation and its judiciary has never had another like him and, perhaps, never will again. His father was that immortal in American literature, Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes, the author of the "Autocrat of the Breakfast Table" and other classic volumes. Young Holmes was born among the Brahmins of Boston and educated at Harvard. He became a lawyer, rather than a physician or litterateur like his father, who was both.

He was admitted to the bar when 26 years old; taught constitutional law at Harvard at 29 and 30; was appointed to the supreme court of Massachusetts at 41, and resigned in 1902 to take the seat upon the supreme court of the United States to which he was called by President Roosevelt. He was a gallant soldier of the Union in the War Between the States, but retained none of the rancors of the conflict. His spirit is that of a broad brotherly American. He recently lost a birth-year contemporary in Georges Clemenceau, but has another living in the person of Sir Edward George Clarke, great English jurist and legislator.

Justice Holmes is still alert to his judicial duties and writes the most scintillating opinions handed down from the court. With his fellow-justice, Brandeis, he is a very constant dissenter from majority opinions. The two of them have a pronounced leaning toward the social implications of laws and are one in their belief that laws should serve the expanding needs of society rather than that society should be traight-jacketed by legislation.

No doubt the birthday of the venerable dean of the court will be duly honored today by his associates and event will draw to him renewed tributes of the high esteem in which he is held by his countrymen large.

COMMUNIST EFFRONTERY.

The recent revelation that the communist party has been conducting a propaganda drive in the public schools of Washington unquestionably came as a shock to the average American citizen.

It was revealed in the investigation started in Washington that cleverly disguised communist literature was being circulated through the lower classes of the public schools evidently in the hope of in-culcating their doctrines into the minds of children too young to realize their nature. Much of this literature was devoted to criticizing the "bosses" of the country and to urging the boys and girls to defy the laws of the nation.

As bold as was this effort of the communists to include their pernicious doctrines in the reading matter of the boys and girls of our national capital, it should not cause surprise on the part of those who have kept posted with day-by-day developments throughout the world, for hardly a week or a month passes in which is not chronicled some instance of insidious efforts on the part of communists to impair the political structure of some nation or to break down the morale of a people.

These are the same people whose activities were so largely responsible last year for the violence in North Carolina; who only a month ago, under the cover of diplomatic immunity, descended to kidnapping in open daylight on the streets of Paris; who have used consular privileges for protection in the counterfeiting of the moneys of the various countries; and who have been convicted of spreading their iniquitous propaganda through the medium of suppoposedly respectable business concerns.

The spirit of the American people as a whole is fortunately not of such a nature as to permit of fear that communism will ever be able to take much of a hold on our body politic, but that is no reason why it should not be handled, promptly and firmly, whenever its ugly head arises from the depths in which it lurks.

It is a thing totally un-American and its promoters and followers should be so handled as to keep them constantly aware of the fact that efforts to spread their doctrines among our people will not only be unwise but extremely unsafe.

FIGHT DOWN THE FLY.

A congressional subcommittee is in Florida to investigate the use of federal money appropriated to aid the state in eradicating the Mediterranean fruit fly. As usual a mass of floating local rumors and gossip has to be heard and sifted. The administrators of the funds are called upon to defend against the imaginings of those who think they could have done the work better if it had been turned over to them.

Certainly, if there has been reckless waste and mismanagement in the eradication work, the facts should not remain hidden; they should be found and responsibility for them located.

But that Mediterranean musca-teer is no joke. His character and destructive record is well known abroad and has been most expensively learned over here since he invaded Florida. The fact that he is a fearsome menace to fruit and vegetable growers in one of the most important and prolific areas of the south is scientifically ascertained and unquestionable. The fly must be exterminated to save a great region and a mass of people from industrial and commercial ruin.

The people of southern Georgia are within the danger zone of fruit fly ravages and naturally interested, vitality interested in the work of fruit fly eradication. Whatever incidental maladministration may be discovered by the congressional investigators, they should keep foremost in their minds and purpose the necessity to use whatever means and power the government can employ to thoroughly abate what President Hoover has called "the greatest peril that has ever menaced American fruit and truck industries."

A LIFE-SAVING TREND.

Reports from the several state legislatures now in session show a large percentage of bills to regulate the use of automobiles on the highways. It has been strongly impressed upon the public and upon legislators that the automobile is no longer a toy but a powerful machine that is maiming and killing an extraordinary number of persons by reason of inept and reckless operation.

The proposed legislation runs the gamut of all suggestions made by traffic engineers, police authorities and motor car manufacturers for the safe handling of cars upon the streets and rural highways. The bills are designed to require examination of all persons applying for licenses to drive motor cars and trucks as to their competency to manage such machines; to punish persons driving a car who are unlicensed; to keep the eyesight and hearing of persons before giving them driver licenses; to require indemnity insurance for all cars; and to revoke licenses, either for a term or permanently, when drivers are twice or oftener found guilty of driving recklessly or when intoxicated.

Each legislature will determine, of course, the character of the regulatory legislation it will enact, but the demand is abroad and growing all over the country that the use of motor cars must be rigidly regulated by law and the law strictly enforced.

Any usage that kills 30,000 human beings in a year in a civilized country in a state of peace needs to be carefully regulated for the common protection of the citizenry.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

BY PIERRE VAN PAASSEN

An Ambassador
At Home.

Panait Istrati, the Rumanian novelist who writes such excellent French that he would ere long have been chosen member of this or that academy, were it not that he holds such bourgeois institutions in complete despise, tells in his book dealing with a three-year sojourn in Russia in what condition he encountered Christian Rakowsky, once soviet ambassador in Paris and a man whom everybody, regardless of politics, respected for his vast erudition, his culture and pleasant manners. It will be recalled that Rakowsky belonged to the Trotsky opposition and that he was recalled to Moscow and sent into exile.
Istrati found him occupying a bare room in a ramshackle hotel in a village, completely out of touch with the world. He was a sick man when he left Paris, and although a medical doctor of some standing, Rakowsky was growing constantly worse, as the authorities refused him to send to France or Germany for the medicine his physical condition required. Notwithstanding, when Istrati saw him he was working away on a "Life of Saint Simon" which he hoped would be published some day after his death outside Russia so as to secure a little income for his children. But Istrati does not mention Madame Rakowsky, the lady who was the center of a salon at the red embassy for three years to which everybody of literary or artistic standing in Paris flocked eagerly. Rakowsky knew what was in store for him in Russia.
He could easily have stayed in France or Switzerland. But his convictions urged him to go and make a stand with Trotsky. The price of idealism is a bitter one.

Beards in History.

The library of the British museum has recently been enriched with the acquisition of a collection of volumes which deal, all of them, with the subject of whiskers. All the beards of history, commencing with those of Moses and Aaron are minutely described and learnedly commented upon. The subject is more useful than would at first be imagined. For certain whiskers played an important role in the history of mankind. The story of one beard, for instance, had a marked influence upon the relations between France and Germany. It will be recalled that the church imposed as penance, upon Louis VII of France, to shave his beard and hair.
He obeyed. But he had forgotten to consult his royal spouse, Queen Eleonora; or the subject. When Louis came home from the barber shop that day there was a scene. Eleonora said she thought his ugly and ridiculous.
She was furious, and took revenge in the manner of Lysistrata. Louis also took angry. The quarrel ended after that he asked and obtained the annulment of his marriage. Eleonora consoled herself by marrying the Duke of Anjou, who became later King Henry II of England. No sooner did Henry mount the throne or he wanted to annex his crown the rich French provinces of Poitou and Guyenne, which represented the dowry of Eleonora. In this way the Hundred Years' War was ushered in. All because a king of France hadn't saved his whiskers.

Aim of Americans.

"If one compares the uniformity of life in America with the prodigious diversity of European life, one understands what Americans look for in the old world; it is variety." So writes Professor Louis Rouger, of the University of Besancon, after a visit to the United States. "Through the subdivision of Europe into small countries and those again into provinces where an independent civilization matured, there is variety everywhere. A man travels from north to south. What a contrast between London and Madrid, Oslo and Vienna,
Moscow and the perfumes of Rome!
There is even greater diversity in the characters of the peoples. . . . In a Parisian salon, in a box at the opera, in an artist's studio, every individual or personality whom one meets has his own ideas on religion, on politics on the problems of the hour. . . .
This is one of the pleasures of which Americans know nothing. As soon as he is in company the American starts either to drink cocktails, to play like a demon or puts a record on the gramophone. He will give an idea of what the professor, who is only one of the hundreds of European observers who go to America annually, to make impressions of the civilization in the States. One wonders what circles this professor frequented in America? And also if it would not be better that some institution be set up to guide foreign visitors around and not leave them too much to their own musings in hotel rooms. If a man is left to himself in a foreign country he is apt to form an erroneous conception of life. The Russians have understood this perfectly."

Letters From a Bald-Headed
Dad to a Flapper Daughter

BY ROBERT QUILLEN

My Dear Louise:

At supper last night, one of the ladies offered the opinion that the right time for a girl to marry is when the right man comes along—whether she is 18 or 25.

There seems to be general agreement, your own included, and I accepted the theory for the sake of harmony; but there isn't much security in a plan based on a supposition, and the soundness of your theory depends on your having the divine intuition to recognize the right man.

Fathers have little faith in young scamps who are interested in their daughters—perhaps because they remember their own unworthiness in courting days—and they live in dread of minor tragedies.

Perhaps—no, certainly you think they are absurd and feel capable of taking care of yourself; but the new freedom and self-reliance of your sex hasn't changed biology and the way of a man with a maid is now as it always has been.

The prime time wasn't handicapped by law or church, and when he went swooning he merely "took up" with the woman of his choice and incontinently dropped her when she became a burden or he saw another with brighter eyes.

That was his nature then, and it is his nature now, though law and custom hold him to his contracts and make him honorable against his will.

He isn't to be trusted until he is tied.

The maiden hasn't a fair chance, for she is always expecting the right man and imagination always helps us to see the thing we wish to see.

Any desirable chap who comes calling is at once accepted as a possibility.

The maid hopes he will prove to be the right one, and this hope gives him such an advantage that he need only mind his manners and declare his love and lo! he is the one ordained of heaven!

Then he kisses and gets bored and looks for another girl, and the maid is left in tears.

That's the way the theory works. Too much eagerness to accept the right one whenever he comes makes every young adventurer the right one.

It may be years—I hope it will be—before you have need for a yardstick to measure "suitors," but here is one you can lay away for future reference.

You are not risk losing your heart to one who is merely amusing himself, and the easiest way to avoid humiliation and sorrow is to measure the man when first he appears.

If his days are devoted to good times and his one ambition is to get all he can with the least expenditure of effort, he regards you merely as another form of amusement and his compliments are bait to catch a fish.

He is a climber, fighting hard to get somewhere and eager to set the world afire, he doesn't know how to pretend and he means business in courtship as in everything else he undertakes.

Love,

EVERYDAY QUESTIONS

BY DR. S. PARKES CADMAN.

Philadelphia, Pa.
I would like to ask if all this talk about the oppression of woman in the past isn't moonshine.
It is my firm belief that she has always desired to command you. Once you surrender, the path to her power is clear.

I think that woman's lot in motherhood is the paradox of humanity.
Only as men who are parents come to life's autumn do they fully realize the joy and the sorrow, the hope and the suspense, the satisfaction and the disappointment which she endures. If men are by woman's "ruling the roost" that mothers have safeguarded infancy, saved adolescence from a thousand pitfalls, molded the character and determined the future of successive generations, I agree.

But consider the cost of that glorious service. Her needless sacrifice in child-bearing her millennium of struggle and suffering, her rearing of children for the benefit of others, make a record of selfless love which has no earthly equal. For these reasons, to say nothing of the priceless values of personality in both sexes, woman's freedom, wisely used, predicts a better future for all.

Men are no longer to huff and domber by divine right. There must be justice and equality between the sexes.

Two hundred years ago Nicholas Rowe, then laureate of Britain, depicted woman's hapless state in the following lines, taken from his drama,
"Jane Shore." The heroine of the play says:

"Such is the fate unhappy women find,
And such the curse entailed upon our kind,
That man, the lawless libertine, may rove, Freely and unquestioned through the wilds of love;
While woman, sense and nature's easy fool,
If poor weak woman swerve from her rule,
If, strongly charmed, she leave the thorny way,
And in the softer paths of pleasure Ruin ensues, reproach and endless shame,
And one false step entirely damns her life."
In vain with tears the loss she may deplore,
In vain look back to what she was before,
She sets, like stars that fall, to rise no more."

Much has happened since Rowe wrote his verses, but he supplied a long succession of tragic actresses with roles which scared or melted the most hardened spectators. But nothing has happened more contradictory of your somewhat cynical attitude than John Stuart Mills' essay on woman's emancipation. Do not be afraid of it. For you as a bachelor, the fair sex presents an infinite variety. Why not yield to the magic of a wife planned to comfort and with no desire to command you. Once you surrender, the path to her power is clear.

Cartersville, Ga.
History is a record of human enslavement in one form or another. The churches have officially supported slavery, and the Jews have suffered at the hands of Christians; Cromwell sold Englishmen and Irishmen into slavery to Barbados and the Roman Catholic inquisitors persecuted the "heretics." How in view of such facts, can the state claim a divine inheritance?

The all-white or all-black method of judging the past sees its periods either white or all tares. But half the charm of history and nearly all its humanness are made by its infinite contrasts, its high or low points, its paradoxical situations.
Many dark or self-contradictory pages can be found, as you urge, in the annals of the church. No soundminded person will defend what those pages record. Nor does any unprejudiced person assume that his particular church was innocent of cruelty and wrongdoing and all the rest were guilty.

Church history records the growth and working out of a great ideal in every generation of human life, and the struggle, down by those who like passion with ourselves. That ideal is divine. It has never lost its native splendor. Its transmission through ages, dark and bloody, and the earth's best children. But it faced every sort of sinful tyranny, excess and persecution, and its human interests were often tainted by the evil surroundings. Hence the deeds you condemn, dark, bigoted and merciless; deeds not of faith, but of unbelief; done by those who were light and knowledge and hated any honest difference from themselves.

The inquisitors and Cromwellians were men of their age and were of ours. We enjoy a radiance they did not have and one which makes the evils they committed stand out

HOLLYWOOD IN PERSON

BY MOLLIE MERRICK

(Special Dispatch to The Atlanta Constitution and The North American Newspaper Alliance)

HOLLYWOOD, Cal. Feb. 28.—
That of devil gossip has one of her best concessions in the Hollywood carnival.

And she's the terror of all the film folk. Charlie Farrell lost his trip to Honolulu when he got to the good beach Maui to San Francisco and found that Janet Gaynor, minus husband, Lyndell Peck, was on the passenger list.

Chivalry prompted Charles to abandon the trip. Janet Gaynor, who has bought a home in Honolulu, was just running down to hang a few curtains and "things" in the new place.
She remained at the studio where she is working. But what a fine morsel he would have proved for the hungry
"I-told-you-so's."

The village just won't believe that Janet Gaynor is happily married. Rumors of discord, or rather of discordant, have floated about since Janet left the orange blossom way. Good friends tell tales of super-devotion on the part of the bride and groom. But that old devil gossip!

Now that Dr. P. Maria Marafioti
M. D.—former voice coach for Caruso when Marafioti was associated with the Metropolitan Opera at Lyric Peck will be voice coach at a local studio, we have definitely ended the rank of higher art with a vengeance.

Lawrence Tibbett, Grace Moore, Galli-Curci and many others of the famous are acquainted with Marafioti's method. He will give expert criticism on all talking picture work done at this Culver City studio. This is the most ambitious move yet made by the gelatine industry towards girling perfect sound recording and the best possible dictation.

Names are not going to be significant in the making of next year's picture. Corinne Griffith will not make the last picture of her contract. Producers bought her off. And she is going to the state without a simple beach house which will replace the Beverly Hills mansion, with its golden staid bathroom of yester-

Colleen Moore has not yet announced a new affiliation. But her old studio connection has been severed and the young lady is said to be shopping around for a new lot.

There will be a good deal of freelancing. Sometimes this works more profitably for the player. Jack Mul-sally, Dorothy Mackail, Dolores Del Rio, Dolores Costello, Monte Blue, Vilma Banky—all are on a different basis than they were of yore.

Norma Shearer will be away from the screen for some time. First a European trip and then the arrival of the Thalberg heir, a lapse in to civilian life from which Norma may return to the screen, if she so sees it.
She has been known throughout the United States as one of the most substantial and liquid in the nation.

As an example: At the close of business December 31, last, the date of the last call—Mr. Lane's bank had on one side of the ledger $29, 674,000 in deposits. It had on the other side, 20 pay for such deposits

Alfred Du Pont Makes Jacksonville Permanent Home.
Predicts Florida Will Double Its Population in Next Five Years—Talks Freely.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Feb. 28.—

Alfred I. DuPont, eastern capitalist, after making his millions has settled permanently in Jacksonville, where he recently he was elected president of the Florida National bank, one of the oldest and most substantial in the state.

"In spite of all setbacks Florida will double its population in the next five years," he predicted to me. "That means a natural and substantial increase in real estate values throughout the peninsula."

"Of course there are some problems to be ironed out. One is the top-heavy burdens of taxes on real estate.
It's not only in Florida that this situation exists. Every state has felt the tremendous carrying charges on real estate. That's why, too, there is not a section of the country where the real estate situation can be called satisfactory."

"How can such a situation be met?
"No business can prosper if the largest per cent of its income goes into tax expense. I believe the solution of the problem in Florida is the adoption of a sales tax of say 2 per cent, and the lightening of taxes on real estate and personal property."

"Why a sales tax? Because it would raise for Florida in excess of $20, 000,000 a year, insure full term schools, leave the county revenues in the hands of the county officers, and give tax relief to the state without a tax burden. This is Florida's biggest opportunity today."

Peter O. Knight, Tampa attorney and capitalist, says business has adopted a watchful waiting policy in Florida.

"Tampa in 1920 had its greatest year in lumber and phosphate shipments, and in the manufacture of clear Havana cigars," said Colonel Knight.
"The output of electrical energy was less than 100,000 kilowatt hours, the greatest in its history. The vegetable and citrus fruit growers are receiving high prices. Florida's troubles are behind it."

"Of course Providence may send us another catastrophe, but before 1926, when the boom collapsed, we had had the worst of it. Since 192

FILM DOM'S GREAT PAY RESPECTS TO MABEL

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 28.—(AP)—Film dom's great and a large following of faithful movie fans paid their last respects to Mabel Normand at brief funeral services today.

In the little chapel where the services were conducted, notables of the film world gathered with members of the family. A crowd of a thousand or more of the actress' screen followers stood silently outside.

The Rev. Michael J. Mullins, pastor of the Roman Catholic Church of the Good Shepherd, said the last rites. The actress died last Sunday, after a long illness from tuberculosis.

Mrs. Mary Normand, her mother, and Gladys Normand, her sister, arrived two hours before the services from their home at Staten Island, N. Y. They were accompanied to the chapel by the actress' husband, Lew Cody.

Some of those who gathered to pay their final respects to the countless motion picture comedies were Marion Davies, Mary Pickford, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lloyd, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Turpin, Marie Dressler, Norman Kerry, Creighton Hale, Constance Talmadge, Jean Hersholt, Leatrice Joy, Jack Muhlall, Mae Marsh and Marshall Neiland.

Honorary pallbearers included Charlie Chaplin, Douglas Fairbanks, Roscoe Arbuckle, D. W. Griffith, Mack Sennett, Samuel Goldwyn, Ford Sterling, Eugene Pallette, Judge W. P. James, Sid Grauman, Art Goebel and Paul Bern, a lifelong friend and adviser.

After a short service at Calvary cemetery the body was taken to the receiving room of the chapel to await a decision of her family as to its burial place.

Invalid Wife Saves Husband From Fire

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Feb. 28.—(AP)—Love and loyalty strengthened the arms Mrs. D. M. Hale, 64-year-old invalid, today and she carried her sick husband from their burning home.

Mrs. Hale was confined to her bed in a first floor room. Her husband, a helpless invalid, was in a back bedroom.

Dale, choked by smoke and unable to move as the flames licked at his bed, called feebly. Nolle heard except his wife. She struggled from her bed and into his room, lifted him bodily and carried him to safety.

At a hospital doctors said his condition was serious. Mrs. Hale also was "very sick."

Her daughter-in-law, two grandchildren and a roomer escaped from the house uninjured.

Slayer of 'Menace' Editor Acquitted

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Feb. 28.—(AP)—Harvey Jackson was acquitted by a jury today of charges he murdered W. P. (Billy) Parker, former editor of The Menace.

The jury deliberated three hours and 25 minutes.

Jackson shot and killed Parker in the office of the Blue Shirt, a labor paper, here last September. The shooting followed an argument between the men over articles printed in the paper which Parker was editing at that time.

The state contended that Jackson plotted the death of Parker in cold blood, but the defense offered the plea that Jackson acted in self-defense after Parker threatened him with a carpenter's square.

Yancey Urges Ban On Grade Crossings

Calling attention to 5,014 unprotected grade crossings in Georgia, Goodloe Yancey, president of the Atlanta Motor Club, Friday issued a statement in which he said that "the building agencies should consider the abolition of grade crossings as one of the primary requisites in locating new highways and changing existing routes."

"The advent of the school bus," Mr. Yancey said, "with thousands of school children being transported across tracks daily has served more than ever to bring the grade crossing problem to the forefront. There have been numerous incidents of accidents to buses with a resultant heavy toll of death and suffering."

Mr. Yancey also called attention to the action of the interstate commerce commission in no longer requiring carriers to install automatic train stops in order that this money might be devoted to the elimination of grade crossings.

"This is one of numerous signs," the Atlanta Motor Club head said, "that governmental agencies are recognizing the danger lurking at railway crossings due to the steady increase in the number of motor vehicles."

Right of County To Borrow Upheld

The Georgia supreme court Friday upheld the right of Fulton county to borrow money in anticipation of tax collections.

The decision was in the case of the Southern railway against the county. The railway had refused to pay $117,340 of its 1926 tax assessment on the grounds that a levy of 36.5 cents per $100 of current expenses and 20 cents for debts was unlawful.

The railroad contended that the county had borrowed $1,500,000 in anticipation of its revenues and insisted that such action was unconstitutional. The supreme court held that while the transaction was referred to as a loan, in reality it was an arrangement for discounting county warrants when the treasury was in a depleted condition. The issuance of a warrant makes it a negotiable instrument, the court said, which the holder may discount or not as he chooses.

More Packing Plants Urged by Talmadge

Need for three more meat-packing plants in Georgia was set out in a signed editorial by Eugene Talmadge, commissioner of agriculture, in the current issue of the Georgia Market Bulletin.

"We need about three more packing plants in the state," the letter said. "Southeast Georgia needs one, middle south Georgia needs one, and southwest Georgia needs one big plant."

"You don't have to tell farmers what not to grow," the commissioner said. "The proper thing to do is to put their products in marketable condition here in our own state."

BY JOHN P. BOUGHAN.
Associated Press Market Editor.

CHICAGO, Feb. 28.—(P)—Reports current today tended to show that Europe finally is buying substantial amounts of wheat for March, April and May shipments from North America. Meanwhile, active purchasing of Chicago future wheat contracts has been increasing upward till wheat values here, with demand absorbed largely to government sponsored agencies. After wheat dealings had closed for the day, however, insurance rates on grain transactions were greatly disturbed by rumors of possible injunction proceedings likely to interfere with the workings of the marketing act under which the federal farm board and its allies are operating.

Chicago closing quotations on wheat were unsettled, ranging from what was yesterday's high to 7-8c a bushel higher. Corn closed 2-3c up, oats 1-4c down, and provisions unchanged to a setback of 2c.

Helping to boost wheat prices today was belief prevailing in government circles that future delivery purchases for the federal farm board's allied organizations would continue until May wheat advanced to $1.15, equalling the farm board's basis for loans having wheat as collateral. Throughout the day the market was very active, and prices averaged about 3-4c above the Chicago basis as compared with yesterday's finish. At one stage May reached within one cent of the government loan basis, but profit-taking sales led to subsequent reactions.

Contributing impetus at times today to the upward swing of wheat values were news advices that legislation would be enacted to enable Canadian provincial authorities to guarantee bank loans of the Canadian growers pool. Another stimulating factor was announcement that the American and Australian wheat shipments for the week were but half as much as was the case at this time last year.

Another factor was the statement of an authoritative source that British importers are behind in purchasing their overseas quota, and that a steady demand from Britain for export clearances from this country and Canada for the week, however, were only 100,000 bushels, the smallest total for any week in many years.

Trade sentiment as to corn was in general much more friendly to the buying side of the market than has been the rule of late. Export clearing, owing to sympathy with corn and wheat.

In provisions the effect of grain strength was somewhat offset by downturns of the hog market.

BOND LISTINGS CONTINUE SLOW MOVEMENT BRINGING SPOTTED NEW HIGHS

Buying Volume Moderate; Rail Offerings Are Scarce

Following the shares to a new 1930 top, American Telephone convertible touched 100 1/2, closing at 100 1/4 for a 2 1/2-point net gain on a volume of more than $2,000,000, par value.

The Parmelee 6s were active and 2 points higher, likewise, the 6 1/2s, with the strength of the shares.

National Dairy Products 5-1/4s turned heavy after the announcement of the company's plans to use $35,000 in the debentures in part payment for the assets of Kraft-Phenix Cheese Corporation. These bodies are outstanding to the extent of about $50,000,000 and the news gave rise to reports that an additional issue might be forthcoming. In a large turnover the debentures sold off nearly a point.

Marked resistance was shown by most of the investment rails, including Santa Fe general 4s, Southern Pacific refunding 4s, Southern Railway general 4s, Nickel Plate 5-1/2s, Great Northern 5s, Canadian Pacific 4s, and Washburn 5s.

The fourth liberty loan closed within an eighth of its year's high. Trading in the treasury was dull.

Belgian bonds changed hands freely, holding virtually unchanged. Interest in the French municipals declined, with the 4 1/2s and 5 1/2s at 115 3/4, or within 1-4 of their top for the year. Italy Public Utility 7s and Government 7s and Seine Department 7s were quiet.

The market heard today that a $50,000,000 issue of American and Foreign Power bonds, probably debentures, would be offered next week. The reported price is 95. Dow Chemical Company, it is understood, is to sell $3,000,000 of 6 1/2s.

New offerings of the week declined about $1,000,000 from last week's total. The volume was $65,488,000 against $72,000,000 in the corresponding period of 1929.

He ruled that briefs in the ing at Candler field in a Douglas 0-2 piloted by First Lieutenant Vincent J. Meloy, of the army air corps.

General Everson was captured to the Philippines where, with Governor L. G. Hardman, he was the luncheon guest of General McCoy. Friday night he was the guest of honor at a dinner given by General Parker at the Piedmont hotel.

Other points included on General Everson's itinerary are Spartanburg and Columbia, S. C.; Nashville and Memphis, Tenn.; Jackson, Miss.; Houston, Tex.; Raleigh, N. C.; and Richmond, Va.

which were submitted by LaVarre in September were incomplete on grounds that much testimony had been omitted, as charged by attorneys for the defense. The case was set for trial in Hall, and gave both sides until December 15 to complete their evidence. At this time he will decide on the question of the admissibility of the evidence concerned.

In submitting the brief for refutation by Judge Deaver, it was stated that LaVarre's counsel only tendered 200 pages of evidence. It was heard during the lengthy hearing in Hall, through his counsel, LaVarre demanded that the entire transcript

Literacy Campaign Enters State Prison

The state-wide campaign against illiteracy has penetrated the walls of the state prison at Milledgeville, Judge E. L. Rainey, chairman of the Georgia prison commission, said Saturday, announcing that classes of illiterate prisoners have been formed at the institution.

The chairman said he had no figures on the total number of illiterates in the prison, since the census had not been completed. He said, however, that of 100 women was said to make United States court of appeals for its study of case.

The brief as submitted by Varre's counsel includes the testimony of Hall, LaVarre, A. R. Grand, president of the International Lumber and Power Company; Nell C. assistant to the president, and N. Hurbit, vice president of the corporation. The testimony of 17 witnesses, including the state prison chaplain, was also included.

When he certifies the brief, the as far as the decree of September 1920, is concerned, will be placed in the hands of the court.

The new attachment on which Varre was arrested in New York prisoners, only six were found to be without rudimentary education.

Tate Asks Audience With Gov. Hardman

Colonel Sam Tate, state highway director, who, rumor reports, will tender his resignation in the near future, has asked an appointment with Governor L. O. Hardman next Tuesday.

The request, it was learned, was made Thursday in the absence of Governor Hardman from his office, and no definite engagement was made.

ne day is based on the young pup's action in South Carolina last week when he obtained an order from the supreme court of South Carolina temporarily restraining J. T. V. Jr., court commissioner, from taking over or interfering in any way with the publication of the Columbia Herald.

Georgian Seeks Money For Work at Fort

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—(Special.)—Representative Charles G. Edwards today announced that he has received from the War Department $200,000 for the purpose of carrying out the plan of the Georgia Agricultural Experiment Station to purchase land for agricultural purposes near the fort.

The receipts of the first two months of this year were $98,632.20, while last year they were $94,493.

The total amount of money which the station derived was estimated at $441,000 last year in January.

In February 216,453 tons of fertilizer were sold.

Officials of the department determined that the collection of fertilizer tax collections to be made under the new law would be excellent index to conditions as to the quantity of fertilizer and in determining increases or decreases in acreage planted, as well as business conditions.

wards, of the first congressional district of Georgia, today introduced a bill seeking an appropriation of $85,000 for construction work at Fort Screven.

The money is sought for use in building shore protection works to protect this government post from erosions.

Secretary of War Patrick Hurley approved the proposed expenditure in a letter addressed to Representative Edwards.

On this, they said there is indication that more land will be cultivated this year than last, that farmers will use commercial fertilizers, and the same farmers will use fertilizer.

They called attention to the fact that fertilizer tax collections are always concurrent with sales to farmers, many dealers buying considerable quantities before the buying season for fertilizer opens.

Wright's Arm Recovers

ROBBIE NAMES SHORTFIELDER DODGER BOSS

Play Features Daily Workout of Dodgers in Clearwater Camp.

CLEARWATER, Fla., Feb. 28.—(UN)—Shortstop Glenn Wright, apparently has entirely recovered the use of his throwing arm which kept him out of action last season, and Manager Wilbert Robinson today appointed the former Pittsburgh star playing captain of the team.

Wright's play featured today's practice and his home run in the final inning gave Hank Deberry's nine a 6-to-0 tie with Val Peckinich's team in a six-inning game.

Adolfo Luque, the only missing pitcher of the squad, sent word today that he would leave Cuba Tuesday, arriving here the following day.

Braves' Squad Nearly Full.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 28.—(UN)—Manager Bill McKechnie's Boston Braves squad is almost complete and infield and outfield workouts will be held daily beginning tomorrow. Fred Maguire, Bob James, Ralph Boyle, Johnny Neen and Bill Dunlap arrived today and Gene Robertson, Rollins, Nolan and Bratcher are expected tonight.

Lance Richbourg sent in his signed contract, sparking rumors that he was a holdout. He reported that he had been working with the University of Florida team and would report at camp Saturday.

Brown Hope Is Injured.

Senators Like Carlos Moore.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Feb. 28.—(UN)—Carlos Moore, of Birmingham, Ala., apparently is the only rookie with more than a fighting chance to earn a place on the Washington Senators' regular squad.

President Griffith is relying on Moore, Bob Burke and Lloyd Brown for relief pitching, with Fred Marberry, Hadley and Ad Liska bearing the brunt of the work. Sam Jones and Garland Braxton are counted on as regulars later in the season but are expected to be late rounding into condition.

Helps has an outside chance to hang on as a catcher if he loses considerable weight. Rookie Pitcher Pyle is expected to be left in Chattanooga when the Senators leave and Don Savidge undoubtedly will be farmed out, with Pitcher Paul Dargatz and Catcher Jester being slated for release unless they show unexpected form.

Phils Given Half Day Off.

WINTER HAVEN, Fla., Feb. 28.—(UN)—The arrival of Pitcher Earl Collier and a message saying Catcher Harry McCurdy would start for camp tomorrow, left only two Phils buttermen unaccounted-for today. Chester Nichols is a holdout but no word has been received from Lou Koupal.

The Phils took a short workout this morning and were given the afternoon off.

Giants Purchase Johnny Mostil.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Feb. 28.—(UN)—Johnny Mostil, former White Sox outfielder, was purchased by the Giants today from the Toledo American association team. Manager McGraw said he would use Mostil in centerfield in case Eddie Rouse remains a holdout.

The Giants worked twice today with a practice game in the afternoon. Hensel, Richardson, Lucas and Prentiss divided the pitching assignment. Prentiss being on the hill when Sam Leslie crashed out a triple with the bases filled to win the game.

Len Shires, brother of Art the Great, showed well at second base. Mel Ott and Pat Crawford arrived today, too late to take part in the practice.

Dick Bartell Turns Holdout.

PASO ROBLES, Cal., Feb. 28.—(UN)—The unexpected announcement that Dick Bartell, regular Pittsburgh shortstop, is a holdout, was made here today by Sam Dreifuss, vice president of the club.

The salary asked by Bartell was not revealed. Burleigh Grimes, star spitball pitcher, is unsigned. He is at odds concerning salary and length of contract. Two workouts were held by the pitchers and catchers today.

Showers Hold Red Sox Up.

PENSACOLA, Fla., Feb. 28.—(UN)—Intensive showers interfered with the work of Red Sox batmen today but Manager Wagner had the men out long enough to loosen up.

The bright spot of practice to date has been the showing of Horace Lisenbee, who starred for Washington in 1927. Lisenbee claims to have entire-

Koenig's Playing Pleases Yanks

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 28.—(UN)—Mark Koenig's rejuvenation around shortstop, where he is fighting Larry for the berth, featured the workout of the Yankees today. Koenig is very resentful over winter stories that New York officials were ready to trade him and he is playing a great game for so early in the training period.

The workout was devoted to routine, such as perfecting the fielding and batting styles of younger players and showing the rookie pitchers a few of the niceties.

MANN IS NAMED TO PEACH POST

Former Cracker Secretary Made Business Manager of Club.

MACON, Ga., Feb. 28.—Major J. D. Blair, who has been connected with the Macon baseball club in various capacities during the last three years, today formally resigned his position as president of the Peaches and Earl Mann, of Atlanta, former secretary of the Atlanta and the Rocky Mount, N. C. clubs, replaced him in the capacity of business manager.

Mann, although a comparatively young man, is regarded as a very capable baseball executive and has had much experience.

Coinciding with the announcement of Major Blair's retirement from the presidency of the local club and Mann's installation, it also was announced that Charley Moore, who had been previously named as Macon's 1930 manager, had come to terms with Nap Rucker, Brooklyn representative, and immediately will assume his duties as the Peaches' new pilot.

The annual training campaign for the local club will get started around March 20. The Brooklyn Dodgers will drop a number of players here when they come here early in April for a week of exhibition games.

Nap Rucker, in announcing the official appointment of Mann and Charley Moore, also stated that the two men would make their headquarters in Macon and have complete charge of the local club without outside interference of any kind.

The youthful but capable Moore-Mann combination won a pennant for Rocky Mount last year and at the same time kept the club in the clear financially.

Charley Moore stated that he intended to fight for every possible advantage he could gain toward the organization of a strong club and that the first move he would make would be to ask Brooklyn to send Bobby Reis, his great young third baseman at Rocky Mount here to play with Macon. Toledo of the American Association wants Reis but Moore thinks a year in the Sally will do him good.

It also was stated last night that an effort would be made to get "Frenchy" Escalier back from Asheville if a satisfactory trade could be arranged.

Douglas Tourney Gets Under Way

DOUGLAS, Ga., Feb. 28.—The 11th district boys' basketball tournament began here with three fast and exciting games. In the first game of the night, Adel defeated Valdosta, 17-16, in one of the best games ever seen in Douglas. Adel led in every department of the game until the last quarter when a belated rally saved the game for Valdosta.

In the second game Blackshear defeated Ocella, 23-20 in a close game which found Ocella leading most of the way and at the half 14-8. Hurst and Stone were best for Blackshear, while Howes showed up for Ocella.

The last game of the evening was the hardest fought and most exciting of all. Douglas defeated Nichols, 27-23, in a game which required an extra period. The score was knotted at the end of the regular playing period, 23-23. Nichols was leading at the half, 18-8, and at the third quarter, 20-15, but a strong Douglas quintet came back in the last quarter and tied the score with a minute to play. Two field goals by Bland and Patford won for Douglas in the extra period. Douglas plays Screven tomorrow night.

He recovered from the arm trouble which handicapped his work last season.

Smith Seizes Cup Limelight.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Feb. 28.—(UN)—Ernie Smith, Southern league rookie, took the limelight during today's White Sox workout. Smith is giving Jeffries a hard fight for the shortstop berth vacated by Bill Cissell, who has moved to second base.

Manager Donie Bush expects to start intramural practice games when the second squad arrives next week.

Second Cub Party Arrives.

AVALON, Catalina Island, Cal., Feb. 28.—(UN)—The entire squad of Chicago Cubs worked out today just after the outfielders arrived on the noon boat to join the pitchers and catchers.

There were 30 players in uniform when the first batting practice of the training season was held. Lester Bell, new third baseman, seemed to fit in well with the sluggers, Hornsby, Wilson, Stephenson and Cuyler. Beginning tomorrow two workouts will be held daily.

Bermuda Tennis Cup Is Won By Bowman

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Feb. 28.—(UN)—Herbert L. Bowman gained permanent possession of the championship cup when he defeated Bruce Barnes, of Austin, Texas, in the final round of men's singles in the Bermuda tennis championships today. The scores were 6-4, 6-3, 6-2.

Barnes played an excellent game, but found Bowman at top form. Edith Sigourney, of Boston, won the women's singles title by defeating Penelope Anderson, of Richmond, Va., 2-6, 6-2, 8-6. Miss Anderson led at 5-1 in the final set only to see Miss Sigourney rally, bring the score to 5-5 and finally win out at 8-6.

Barnes and Berkeley Bell defeated Dean Mather and Carl Pfaffman, 6-3, 6-1, and Bowman and John Doeg, of Santa Monica, Cal., eliminated Guild and Caner, 6-0, 6-2, in the semi-finals of the men's doubles.

MISS VAN WIE GAINS FINALS OF TOURNNEY

Girl Star Plays Today for South Atlantic Women's Title.

ORMOND BEACH, Fla., Feb. 28.—(UN)—Virginia Van Wie, defending champion in the women's South Atlantic golf tournament, advanced to the final round today when she won a 4-and-2 verdict from Marion Bennett, New Britain, Conn.

Mrs. Stewart Hanley, Detroit, Mich., earned the right to meet Miss Van Wie in the finals when she easily disposed of Ruth Ruple, Oklahoma City, 6 and 5.

Virginia was playing the greatest golf of her career, sinking her final putt on the 16th green to find herself with a chance to establish a new course record for women if she could negotiate the last two holes in par.

This she proceeded to do, posting a card of 38-35—73, men's par for the course, which bettered by one stroke the record which she made in 1928.

Coming home Virginia canned a beautiful three on the 241-yard 10th to go one up and followed it with another win on the 11th when she dropped her putt for a four. The Connecticut girl, gamely fighting along, won the 12th when she dropped her first putt to come within one of being even, which was the result after both had four on the 13th. A beautiful birdie four on the long 14th gave Virginia a lead of two and she went down when she sank a deuce on the 15th to keep Marion from a half, since the latter played her second shot to the lip of the cup. The 16th went to the defending champion when she played a tasty three after driving this 218-yard hole in one shot. With a chance to break the record she played the last two holes perfectly, scoring five on both while Miss Bennett finished 6-5 for a net of 79.

The final tomorrow with Mrs. Hanley should produce one of the greatest matches of the winter season since the latter is at present on the top of her game. She coasted to the turn this morning in 38 to start home four up on the Oklahoma girl, who was playing gamely but against odds too great to overcome. Mrs. Hanley allowed her to win but one hole during the match, the 6th, where the ultimate winner required a six.

John D. Rockefeller, Sr., followed the last two holes of the Van Wie-Bennett match along the hole in his car and after the final putts were sunk on the home green he presented both girls with a shiny new dime and wished them both the "best of luck."

Presbyterian Five Clings to Lead

Central Presbyterian maintained its one-game lead in the Piedmont league race by downing Center Street Methodist, 23 to 14, in the best of the two-game series played on Wesley Memorial court Friday night. Gordon Street Presbyterian defeating the Torchbearer Class, 23 to 12 in the other game.

Consistent guarding by Collins and Cook was the big factor in Central Presbyterian's victory as these boys forced the losers to make hurried shots from long range. Gilleland was best for the losers. Schilling and Wilkerson led the attack that netted victory for Gordon Street Presbyterian, tying with L. Perkerson for the losers in outstanding play.

Fulton High Girls Win Y. W. Tourney

Moore was high point scorer for the winners with six points. Young and Morris also played well for the winners. Sewell and Morris scored all the points for the losers.

The games were played under the girls' rules.

Banuet and Payton entered the doubles final late today by defeating Willis Kamman and Lawrence Rothenberg, of Detroit, 21-7, 21-13, while Srenco and Dworkman won, 21-18, 21-20, from John Endzerrick and Joe Goodgreen, of Cleveland.

JACKETS GRAB HONORS FRIDAY IN FIRST HEATS

Today's Events Scheduled To Start at 2 O'Clock.

By Herb Clark.

With preliminaries in the 50, 100 and 220-yard free-style events out of the way, the tankmen of the Southern conference will get down to business at 2 o'clock this afternoon in the Atlanta Athletic Club pool to settle all claims to the conference title.

Georgia Tech's Yellow Jackets, four-time winners of the crown, have taken a beating from the gods of war in the matter of the loss of veterans, but a nice stock of speedy sophomores has been rounded up at the Flats to bolster the squad.

TECH LEADS RIVALS.

Tech stepped out in Friday's preliminaries to demonstrate real power.

The Jackets took three first places in the six events and gathered enough points to run their total to 21. Florida, capturing two firsts, was second in the point standing with 13. Georgia was third with nine points, while Duke's six markers nosed out Virginia at five. The Cavalier points came as Mabrey cabined the lone remaining first.

The times in the events held Friday were good. So good, in fact, that storm warnings have gone out for the existing records.

Records might have fallen Friday but for the fact that intelligent seeding in the heats kept the most touted of the stars from meeting. In almost every event the battle was for third place rather than for first. The leading swimmer and generally the second man were in most instances able to get half-way home with a safe lead and then coast down. It was more a matter of pride than anything else which lowered times as the leading pair staged duels in the final on occasions to crash home in fine style.

GOOD TIME.

Kennickell, Tech sophomore flash, turned in a nice 26 second time to win the first heat of the 50-yard free style. The second heat was won by Carter of Florida in 27.2.

In both heats of the century the "counting" was in evidence. Sawyer, of Florida, took the first in 1:02.4, while Mabrey captured the second heat for Virginia in one second less.

The Jackets took both heats of the 220-yard swim, Egan finishing off the early laps and easing home in 2:44.8 and House riding all the way to win in the slower mark of 2:51.

On the basis of their showing in Friday's card and on the caliber of their entries in the other events slated for this afternoon, the Jackets are being hoped to pull the strings of conference victories in the meet to five.

FLORIDA STRONG.

Florida is looked on as the leading contender. The Bulldogs of Georgia, next in line, were beaten by the Engineers here last Saturday by a convincing margin. The Gators, however, seem to be at a form peak and may flash through to dethrone the Jackets.

50-Yard Free Style.
First heat: Kennickell (T), first; Haynes (G), second; Rump (F), third. Time, 26 seconds.
Second heat: Carter (F), first; Hancock (T), second; Ventuliet (G), third. Time, 27.2 seconds.

Tech Smears Tulane, Sewanee Scores Upset

eris, who centers for the football and basketball teams, led the Green Wave in a grand and glorious effort but his was a lost cause.

In the second half the Jackets had polished off their rough spots and began to click. They worked plays as if the Tulane guards were not among those present. Enthusiasm for the Tech five, rather slow to start, mounted as it became apparent that they were making a great fight and a winning one.

Ginny Wages led the fight. He is a natural, instinctive basketball player, and it was he who really broke the Tulane defense. He came out a few minutes before the game ended and the crowd gave him a genuine ovation.

Perkins, who went in for Wilson, was another thorn in Tulane's side. He and Wages scored 13 points each as the Jackets surged on to the scoring record of the day.

The Jackets met Duke this afternoon at 5 o'clock and are good enough to turn in what would be the greatest upset of the tournament, a victory over Duke. That is, they are good enough if they can click as they did last night.

Georgia Beats Tarheels, 26-17.

By Ed Danforth.

Georgia gave her devoted alumni another blood-pressure test last night in beating North Carolina, 26 to 17, and passing into the second round.

The Bulldogs started sluggishly as if they had a long way to go and were undecided whether to tackle the journey or not. On the other hand, the youngsters who compose the new Tarheel quintet this year went to work earnestly and vigorously.

A fox terrier digging a hole under the back fence could not have manifested a more noticeable singleness of purpose.

They rushed the leather down the floor for shot after shot; they must have missed 20 in the first half by the simple process of rimming the hoop.

The young Tarheels led at the half, 10 to 8. The Athens boys were waiting to see whether any of the home folks were going to pass out on the lark.

Dave Nieman, a tiny jack-rabbit of a boy, must have travelled between six and seven miles up and down the floor in the first half leading the white-shirt attack.

The last half was pretty well gone when the Bulldogs finally decided to make an appearance Saturday night. That required points. Field goals were necessary.

It was "Catfish" Smith who cast the deciding vote. The score was 13 to 8 against the Bulldogs when Catfish hurried over and basketed one Sandy Sand curled in and bugged another. Then Catfish got one and Georgia led, 14 to 13. That settled it.

Palmer sank two baskets, Catfish another and Sanford two more. That burst of gunfire sewed up the game and made the Saturday night sell-out a certainty.

"Buck" Anderson, the tall capable back-guard, did not start for Georgia. Tommy Reeder, far too small for the job, made up for his lack of inches with a fast, determined game. He performed miracles under the Tarheel basket. Reeder certainly made good in the old cliché.

The Tarheels passed out, but showed promise of bigger things next year.

Wildcats Sink Old Liners, 26-21.

With "Big Mac" and "Little Mac"—the two McGinnis boys—splitting most of the honors, Kentucky's Wildcats won their opening game by getting the decision from the Old Liners of Maryland, 26-21.

For the first half close guarding by the Wildcats, allowing the Maryland quintet but two field goals, sent them off the floor on the long end of a 12-6 score. The Big Blue tallied five times from the field.

Coach Shipley's quintet came back after the intermission to play the Wildcats to a standstill, even to pick up one point of the six which made up Kentucky's lead.

Two factors spelled Kentucky's success. The first, which cut at least 10 points from Maryland's total, was the regularity with which George Duke Trims L. S. U., 43-34.

Duke's Blue Devils won their opening game in the tournament in unimpressive fashion as they took a 43-34 decision from the Tigers of L. S. U.

The Blue Devils opened with a rush which marked them as up to the caliber of all reports. Later, with the score standing at 20-0, they were forced to stand around on the court while the Tigers brought the count up to 26-21 at the half-way point.

The second half saw the Devils outscore the Tigers by a margin of 17 points to 13.

The play of Jim Croson, lanky center, of Bill Weber and Roland Farley, guards, and of George Rogers and Harry Councillor was outstanding for the victors. All played well, and it was in the absence of pairs of them for rests that the Tigers did most of the damage.

Duke did his best to help the Tigers along in the first half by tipping in a field goal from a scramble under the L. S. U. basket.

Generals Beat Ole Miss, 33-29.

Ole Miss came within a nod of spilling Washington & Lee, one of the favorites, in the second game of the afternoon, but lost, 33 to 29.

Charles Graber fired a long shot just as the finishing buzzer sounded to tie the score 28-28.

Ole Miss, not considered a serious contender, had spent her strength, however, in the long, grim chase to overhaul the speedy Generals.

In the extra period, the men from the northern section scored two field goals and a foul to win. Mabry's foul was the only Ole Miss score.

The battle between the Generals and Ole Miss proved the real feature of the afternoon. Homer Hazel, Mississippi coach, had given his boys a new offense for use in the tournament.

As a result Ole Miss showed a vast improvement over their showing before the tournament.

The Generals got away to an early lead. Leigh Williams, the tall center who played end on the Northern eleven in the New Year's Day football game here, proved one of the smartest players seen here in years. His passing and shooting stamped him as one of the tournament stars if his team survives to the semi-finals.

Will Williams was the key man of the Generals' offense, every man seemed a good shot and all were very fast. They outran Mississippi time and again in getting back down the floor after their shots.

Ole Miss kept fighting and never lost heart. As the game wore on they slowly cut down the margin until with a minute to play the count was 28-26.

ROBERTS TOPS POINT-GETTERS WITH 17 TOTAL

Werber, Flashy Duke Guard, Second With 15 Points.

By Roy White.

Although his team was beaten by the largest score of the eight games Friday, Roberts, brilliant Tulane center, led the conference scorers on the first day with 17 points. He scored more than half of the Green Wave's 31 points. Second place honors went to Werber, the flashy Duke guard, with 15 points. Third place honors were divided between Perkins of Tech, Wages of Tech and Cox of Washington and Lee with 13 points each.

University of Alabama scored the largest percentage of field goal attempts during the eight games. The Crimson Tide attempted 32 field goals and 11 of that number were converted into two points each. Clemson attempted 48 field goals and made 7 of them.

Duke fired away more times than any of the others with 71 attempts and North Carolina was second with 68 attempts.

Georgia attempted 27 field goals in the first half against 43 for the Tarheels, while in the second half the Bulldogs fired away the same number of times and led the North Carolina team to only 25 times.

North Carolina used the north basket during the first half and was leading the Bulldogs, 10 to 8, at the half. The Bulldogs came back to win the game at the basket. The Tarheels had attempted 43 field goals in the first half only to make 5 of them.

Roberts, the Tulane center, was the most accurate foul shot. He had eight attempts and made the first seven out for one point each.

The night crowd had the thrilling experience of seeing the longest field goal made. Kentucky and Maryland, with two excellent defenses, fired away at the baskets from all angles on the court except from short range. Their number of attempts were fairly even, with Maryland slightly in the lead. McBrayer, Kentucky guard, was the best in the long distance shooting. He sank four long ones in rapid succession in the second half.

Flare and Werber, who were less than half his age.

Cobb's greatest years came around the age of 26 and 27, so the two youths from New York and Philadelphia still have some seasons ahead before they come into their prime.

To figure that either will be "another Cobb" is another story. Baseball has known only one Cobb.

Other Young Stars.

Strangely enough, while tennis and golf have more playing youngsters than any other sport can show today, there are few young stars who have shown championship caliber. The two notables in this respect are Horton Smith and Helen Hicks in golf. Tennis has yet to show that another Tilden, Cochet, Johnston, Richards or Lacoste is coming on.

Horton Smith was a sensation before he was 21. He won't be 22 until May. Helen Hicks has had a remarkable record, and she is still shy of 20. She ought to be a sure champion within a year or two, at almost any given time. Miss Hicks has youth and power, and her game has shown a remarkable form improvement during the last year.

The Odd Mr. Ott.

Tomorrow, March 2, Melvin T. Ott, of the New York Giants, will be 21 years old. He was born in 1909 at Gretna, La.

There is nothing peculiar in the fact that Mel Ott is 21 years old or that he was born in Gretna, La. But it is a trifle odd that at the age of 21 Mel Ott is starting his sixth year with the New York Giants. He came to the club at the age of 16. In 1926, at the age of 17, he played in 31 games and batted .383. Without looking further into the matter, you can write this down as a record—the only 17-year-old big leaguer who ever batted above .380. When Ott was 18 years old he played in more than 80 games, and slumped to .282. He broke as swiftly as a flock of stocks crashed last fall. But in 1928 and 1929 Ott came back again to the neighborhood of .330 and last year he was one of the star home run producers of the season.

The young Inat starts his next season with a four-year average of .328. As he is still younger than most recruits who finally break in, he should be about ready to combine experience and youth and step into the middle of his finest year.

Ott's Nearest Rival.

Then there is the case of one James Emory Foxx, of the Athletics. Foxx was born in Somerville, Md., October 22, 1927. He is now 22 years old.

Foxx played with the Eastern club in the Eastern Shore league in 1924, when he was 16 years old. At the age of 17 he came to the Athletics and in 10 games handed Connie Mack at batting average of .667. Which was fair enough for 17—or any other age you can think of.

At the age of 22 Foxx is starting his sixth season with the Athletics, where his five-year average has been .342. In his one world series start young Foxx paddled out a mark of .350 in five games, to prove that all pitchers practically look alike to his batting eye. Foxx so far has outlived Ott, and the race

Karl Wildermuth, Last Champion, Out of Collegiate Meet Tonight

INJURY TO LEG KEEPS STAR OUT; PENN FAVORED

Many Top-Flight Performers To Perform on Indoor Track.

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—(U.N.)—Studded with the names of many a top-flight performer, the entry list of the ninth annual indoor championships of the I. C. A. A. to be held here Saturday, was announced tonight.

Six I. C. A. A. titleholders will defend their honors, as will four college relay teams.

A total of 29 colleges will send their best performers to the games. A late withdrawal was announced today. Karl Wildermuth, of Georgetown, intercollegiate 100-yard dash champion, will not run in the 70-yard dash as had been announced.

Wildermuth had been counted on to give a great contest to the speedy Jimmie Daley, but a leg, injured some weeks ago, has not healed, and Wildermuth will remain in Washington.

Pennsylvania and Harvard have been named as the most likely winners of the team championship. N. Y. U. also has a grand chance to repeat the victory, scored for the first time last year.

Lawson Robertson, veteran Penn track coach, pins his hopes on Barney Berlinger, who was high scorer with 9-1-4 points last year. Barney is entered in the pole vault, shot put, high jump and broad jump.

Harvard, winner in 1926 and 1927, has a strong squad led by Captain Tom Mason, sprinter.

Gun Royal Wins Feature at Hialeah

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—(P)—Gun Royal, winner of the Miami inaugural handicap, splashed over a mile of sloppy going in 1:42 3/5 today to win the Lake Okechobee purse at Hialeah park.

The six-year-old son of Wrack, from Max Stern's stable, was held at the prohibitive odds of 1 to 8 after Rapid Transit had been scratched. He so far outdistanced the three horses opposing him, however, that the layers took no liberties with him. Sonny Workman just sent the speedy gelding out in front to win by six lengths under wraps. Bub McFarland, an inveterate for second place with La Golondrina, third.

The heavy track at the Fairgrounds, New Orleans, played havoc with the favorites, outsiders scoring in all but the feature event. This race labelled as the Haukeirin, Inc. purse went to Moss Goldblum's Whiskey, which paid $3.90 in the mutuels. Smoldering was second with Bob Gibson, third.

Shining, a maiden two-year-old, led the procession of long shots with a victory that paid $80.00 for $2 invested. Then followed Command, $25.00; Lower Five, $20.00; Jan, $8.20; Bobbie Powers, $14.90, and Turquoise, $10.70.

Out at Agua Caliente the fans saw the equaling of the seven-furlong mark of 1:25 1/5 by Satin Spar in the Cabrillo purse. The winner, which flies the silks of the Bill Bee stable, just managed to nose out W. C. and E. W. Reichert's Tippy Toe, the favorite, which set the pace to the stretch drive. Flagtime, from the Northway stable, was third. Satin Spar paid $12.50 for a $2 mutuel ticket.

Woman Champion To Play On Team

BUFFALO, N. Y., Feb. 28.—(P)—Miss Peggy Wattles, four times Buffalo district champion and present holder of the title, announced today that she had accepted an invitation from Miss Glenna Collett, to play with the first women's international golf team to invade Great Britain. Miss Wattles will sail with metropolitan players and others of the group from New York, April 22. The trip will consume seven weeks, during which the United States golfers will participate in the women's British championship.

Miss Wattles will leave for Pinehurst, N. C., in a few weeks to prepare her game for the overseas competition.

Netmen at Emory Await Court Work

Emory University's annual spring tennis tournament is to get under way as soon as the clay courts at the university are put into playing condition. At present, the women are serving and resurfacing the top soil of the courts and when the job is completed will start for the annual tournament to select the school champion and the varsity tennis squad.

Sandwina Defeats Riccardo Bertazzola

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—(P)—Ted Sandwina, German strong boy, pushed out an easy decision tonight over Riccardo Bertazzola, chunky Italian heavyweight, in a feature 16-round bout at Madison Square Garden. There were no knockdowns. The match was staged before a crowd of 5,200, the slimmest of the indoor season.

Sandwina, who easily knocked out Knute Hansen, the melancholy Dane, in one round, punched the Italian in every round in the book but could not put him on the floor. Bertazzola weighed 200, Sandwina 191 1/2.

Harold Mayne, heavyweight veteran from Bayonne, N. J., won the decision over Marty Gallagher, of Washington, D. C. Mayne weighed 180 1/2, Gallagher 230.

Arthur DeKub, lanky New York Italian, scored a quick knockout over Charlie Smith, DeKub weighed 220 1/2, Smith 191.

McLarnin Wins.

CHICAGO, Feb. 28.—(P)—Jimmy McLarnin, the baby-faced welterweight puncher, and Sammy Mandell, world lightweight champion, will resume their pugilistic feud at the Chicago stadium tomorrow night, with McLarnin a 7-to-5 favorite. They will meet in a ten-round bout at 145 pounds, with prospect that the match will be witnessed by 15,000 spectators, and producing a gate of around $60,000.

Gotham Commish Stands by Magnolia

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—(U.N.)—The New York state athletic commission today accepted Lou Magnolia's decision in the Jack Sharkey-Phil Scott contest and announced that the British heavyweight had been eliminated from the heavyweight title tournament.

"We will go through with the Sharkey-Schmeling fight as planned," Commissioner William Muldoon said. "If either Sharkey or Schmeling refuse to go through with the bout the other will be declared champion by default."

Muldoon announced receipt of a telegram from Joe Jacobs, manager of Schmeling, denying reports the German boxer was injured and could not fight again.

SCOTT 'ROBBED,' ENGLISH CLAIM

London Papers Back "Phalling Phil" in Claim of Foul.

LONDON, Feb. 28.—(P)—There were few in London today who had a good word for the Sharkey-Scott fight decision in Miami last night.

One of them was Ted Broderick, widely known referee, who had this to say of Lou Magnolia, the fight arbiter, in the Evening News:

"I have seen Magnolia control several fights and in my opinion he is a good referee and a man who won't be bluffed."

HIT DECISION.

But in general the newspapers dealt in fire and brimstone—especially the evening papers. The morning journals could carry no more than a few lines of the result, but their afternoon colleagues were strong in condemning the decision which gave Sharkey a technical knockout when Scott claimed he had been fouled.

Fred Dartlett, The Star's boxing expert, cabled from Miami: "I consider that Scott was deliberately robbed of the decision."

The Evening News declares that many American sports writers agree the blow which gave Sharkey victory was a foul. Its famous sporting cartoonist, Tom Webster, who is at Miami, said: "Although our official need looked like winning, he should have had the verdict on a foul."

Scott's English manager was reported in The News as saying "Scott has failed in his attempt to bring back to Britain the world's heavyweight championship, but his failure will be a blot on American boxing history which will never be erased."

Another interview reported in the same paper is that with J. W. H. I. Douglas, one of England's best-known sportsmen, who declares that "the blow of a minute's rest is all balderdash, either Scott was beaten or he was fouled. To give him rest, then ask him to continue, was inviting trouble and criticism."

The Star said editorially that the fight was no exhibition of skill but "a disgusting, degrading spectacle which can only do such a fine, healthy sport as boxing is when conducted on proper lines, more harm than good. From the first the sportsmanship of the American money makers who promoted this contest has been suspected, and as long as big boxing in America is conducted on the present lines, British boxers, however good, should keep away."

The Evening Standard contents itself chiefly with printing an interview which its representative obtained with Scott.

PAIN BEACH, Fla., Feb. 28.—(P) Rain today halted the Florida women's tennis championship final match in which Virginia Hillyer, of Philadelphia, and Mrs. R. F. Stenz, former metropolitan champion, were scheduled to meet. The match will be played tomorrow.

In the doubles match, however, the title went to Mrs. William Endicott and Mrs. J. L. Bremer, of Boston, over Miss Hillyer and Miss Ann Ramey, 6-2, 6-5.

Sharkey-Schmeling Go To Be Held, Says Bruen

Fight To Be Billed As Championship Affair— June 16 Set As Tentative Date.

By Alan Gould,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 28.—(AP)—Jack Sharkey, no matter how much his technical knockout victory over Phil Scott may be disputed, will fight Max Schmeling, the doughty German, at the Yankee stadium, probably on June 26, in a 15-round bout to decide the world's heavyweight championship.

Frank J. Bruen, general manager of the Madison Square Garden Corporation, in the midst of checking up the extent of the financial fiasco of last night's show, made this announcement today to confirm previous plans and dispose of rumors that Sharkey, because of his poor showing against Scott, might be required to engage in another test bout, possibly against Tuffy Griffiths.

At the same time, Bruen stated emphatically that Scott had fought his last fight in this country so far as the Garden Corporation is concerned. The British champion was accepted reluctantly for the match, because of his reputation for figuring in fouls, his lack of color and his low power. Bruen considers that his showing last night was "the last straw."

"We took it on the chin, financially, to put this show on," declared Bruen. "Regardless of the argument and disappointment aroused by the main event, if still think it was a good show. No matter what else happened, we disposed of Scott and the way now is clear to establish a recognized world's champion by early summer."

"We have a ten-year lease on the Miami stadium, with nine years more to run and we will be back here next winter with a better show. We bucked obstacles this year in the form of a stock market crash and a poor head line bout. They were insurmountable."

Official paid attendance was announced today as 15,702, which was in addition of 2,378 complimentary tickets, made a total of 21,140. Gross receipts were listed at $193,252.03 with a net of $161,716.03.

SHARES.
Sharkey's share on a basis of 25 per cent of the receipts was $40,425.75, with Scott's 20 per cent aggregating $32,243. The preliminary cost the Garden $52,000, and the rental of the park on a percentage basis reached $12,500, making the total expenses exclusive of other promotional disbursements $137,172. Including all disbursements the total expense is expected to reach close to $200,000.

Not since the "long count" controversy following the last Dempsey-Tunney fight in Chicago has any heavyweight fight aroused such a bitter argument as Sharkey's victory, in the third round, after Scott had claimed foul and continued only after being given a minute's rest by Referee Lou Magnolia.

Jimmy Johnston, Scott's American manager, filed a formal protest with the Miami boxing commission today and said he would remain here for a hearing on Monday. This was regarded as purely a gesture, however, for Chairman Lou Mackeynolds made the flat statement that the commission unanimously upheld Magnolia's decision. Since it was a question of judgment and not rules, there appeared no alternative but to regard the verdict as final.

EXPERTS.
A big majority of newspaper experts, polled by the Associated Press today, expressed the conviction that Scott was fouled by the left hook that landed around the belt line on the Briton's thigh, causing what appeared a semi-paralysis from effect upon the sciatic nerve. At the same time the bulk of critics disbelieved any serious injury had been afflicted by the blow and held the opinion that Scott quit after he resumed fighting and was hit hard in the stomach. This final blow was considered fair by all concerned.

Scott, to bear out his claim of an incapacitating injury, and therefore a foul, went to a solitarium this morning to undergo treatment for the nerve condition. He walked with a limp and said he suffered intense pain. He had a lump on his side several inches below the waistline.

Magnolia, quizzed by newspapermen, flatly declared he saw a blow struck which he regarded as foul or as cause for the disqualification of Sharkey. He hotly denied the statement that he (Magnolia) twice motioned to disqualify Sharkey for hitting low.

NOT FOULED.
"Scott was not fouled," said Magnolia. "I warned Sharkey once and was sharply on the lookout for any foul punches. The blow on which Scott claimed foul and collapsed was a glancing punch off the hip-bone. I called the halt to give Scott the benefit of any doubt but chiefly because of the cause of the understanding beforehand with Johnston that he did not want 'my Phil' to win on a foul. Johnston wanted to be consulted and I did so, as we carried Scott to his corner. Then I told Scott he had to go on or lose. He said he felt able to 'carry on.' Later, when he was struck squarely in the pit of the stomach by a left hook, and started to sag, I asked him if he wanted to continue. He said he could not do so and I immediately awarded the decision to Sharkey."

Johnston tried to put one over and failed, in my opinion. Scott tried to claim a foul and then quit. I think Scott would have claimed a foul if he had been hit on the ankle. I do not think he was hurt. I am willing to bet $500 now that I will take Phil Scott down into the nearest cellar and make him quit."

Johnston, who went so far as to question Magnolia's integrity, however, dodged a prospective meeting with the referee at press headquarters in Miami Beach. Magnolia attacked Johnston's methods bitterly, pointed to his record of 32 years' connection with the ring and emphasized that he did not need to make his living out of boxing.

CLAIM.
Johnny Buckley, Sharkey's manager, filed a claim to the "world's championship" to add to the general epidemic of statements but his move received no applause in the view of the expert opinion that Sharkey fought a bad fight. The American was wild when he tried to reach Scott's jaw in the first two rounds and erratic when he shifted his attack to the body in the third. He was so nervous and excited that tears of rage streamed down his face while waiting for Magnolia's decision and he jumped up and down like a wild man.

"Sharkey made the mistake of trying to knock out Scott with the first punch," Buckley admitted. Both fighters will remain here for a time. Scott until he recovers and Sharkey until about the first of April. The main body of the expeditionary forces will beat a strategic retreat for New York tomorrow evening.

Epworth All-Stars Meet Alpha Class

Epworth All-Stars will face the Alpha Class, a strong quintet of the Y. Church Athletic Association, Saturday night at 8:30 o'clock at Wesley court in the third game of the season, preparatory to going to Birmingham for the Southeastern Epworth league tournament on March 15. In a preliminary game the Epworth Star girls will face a strong sextet of this city. This game will get under way at 7:30 o'clock.

The Stars have been practicing hard for this game, and in order to iron out the wrinkles which were apparent in their last affair with Chattanooga. They look better than at any time during the season and should give the Alphas plenty of trouble. The opposing Alpha five have established a good record this year and will scrap all of the way.

More Money.

Al Thomas and Ted Lyons, White Sox pitchers and buddies, were given substantial raises for 1930.

Links Caravan Starts West Coast Open Today

BELLEAIR, Fla., Feb. 28.—(AP)—America's links caravan paused here today on its trans-continental golfing itinerary and tomorrow will start in quest of the fifteenth annual Florida west coast championship and its reward of more than $4,000 in cash prizes for the first 20 to finish. More than 100 of the country's leading exponents of the game had entered.

Two rounds of 18 holes each will be played tomorrow with another 36 holes Sunday. Though he finished poorly in the west coast open last year, Horton Smith, of Detroit, by virtue of his splendid showing in the past 15 months, ruled a favorite to cop this year's top prize. Denny Shute, slim Columbus, Ohio, professional, was a close second choice in the pre-tournament selections.

Among the top notchers who already were on the ground, beside Horton Smith and Shute, are Al Espinosa, Al Watrous, Johnny Farrell, Tom Kerrigan, Mike Turnesa, Bobby Cruikshank, Harry Cooper, Bob Burke, Gene Sarazen, Frank Walsh, Craig Wood, Whiffy Cox and scores of others capable of coming through in the money. Johnny Dawson, of Chicago, was a favorite among the Simon peters entered.

For the first time in more than a decade familiar faces of Walter Hagen and Leo Diegel will not be among the starters in the tourney.

Opportunity.

Tony Piet went out and met opportunity on a second-hand motorcycle. Now he is with the Cleveland Indians. He bought the bike to go to Texas so he could get a tryout with Dallas.

Bill Tilden, Coen Are Again Winners

MONTE CARLO, Feb. 28.—(P)—In a resumption of Franco-American tennis warfare, Bill Tilden and his youthful Kansas City protege, Wilbur F. Coen, Jr., today defeated the young French combination of Christian Bousset and Rene Debuzet in the semi-finals of the Butler cup tournament by scores of 6-4, 4-6, 5-7, 6-3, 6-4.

The Americans thus qualified to meet Henry Austin and Charles Kingsley, a strong British team of former college players, in the final round tomorrow. Austin once captained the Cambridge University forces and Kingsley led the Oxford team. Austin is England's outstanding player.

Tilden, the American singles champion, and Coen, now the eighth ranking player in the United States, were given a great battle by their French opponents but came back strong after trailing at one set to two at the intermission.

WALTER TAYLOR AND HARRY YORK HEAD LIST OF 20 INDICTED IN GRAFT EXPOSE

Political 'Ring' Rules City, Jury Charges Hansell, Saunders, Couch and Price Named by Jurors

EDUCATION BOARD ADVISED TO FIRE RAYMOND RITCHIE

Jurors Propose Removal of Duties of Registrar of Voters From Hands of City Clerk.

CONDUCT OF MAYOR PLACED UNDER FIRE

Purchase of Two Park Sites Termed Wanton Extravagance and Wasteful Waste of Funds.

Facing with a withering fire activities of City Clerk Walter C. Taylor, Councilman Harry York, of the sixth ward, Jack White, York's business partner, and Raymond R. Ritchie, assistant superintendent of schools, in charge of business administration, the retiring Fulton county grand jury, in its presentments to Judge Virlyn B. Moore, of the superior court, Saturday night bitterly attacked what it termed a "ring" in control of the city government.

Mayor I. N. Ragsdale himself did not escape, the grand jury criticizing the city's chief executive for various minor infractions which it reported did not consider of enough consequence to justify charges.

Park Purchases Hit.

Purchase of park sites, particularly those of the John A. White and Charles L. Chosewood parks, was assailed as a wanton extravagance and wasteful waste of public funds, the purchase price being too high, and the parks themselves declared not needed by the city.

Purchase of supplies, letting of contracts, and alleged juggling of various bids for city work were attacked in the 65-page presentment which was handed to Judge Moore as the grand jury returned its indictments against 20 persons, most of them officials or former officials of the city. Many reforms were recommended, among them being one which would remove duties of the registrar of voters from the hands of the city clerk. The school board was advised to "get rid of Mr. Ritchie," and other departmental changes were recommended.

Presentments in Full.

The presentments follow in full: Atlanta, Ga., March 1, 1930.

"Judge E. D. Thomas, Fulton County Superior Court, Fulton County, Georgia.

"Honored Sir:

"The January-February Fulton county grand jury begs to submit herewith its report.

"We are also transmitting to the sheriff's office a number of indictments which we have returned in connection with our work, which speak for themselves. However, we believe that some elaboration on them and on the work of this grand jury will be interesting and timely.

"For the past two months this body has been engaged in a most thorough and diligent investigation into the rumors and charges of graft, corruption, mismanagement, waste and extravagance in the city government of Atlanta. This grand jury took up this investigation following the previous grand jury, which had already begun its work along this line and which body, having started the investigation, turned over to this grand jury enough evidence and testimony to strongly indicate the presence of graft in our city government and to warrant the January-February grand jury in continuing the investigation.

"The work of this grand jury has been very arduous and tedious. We have held daily sessions for the entire two months, giving to this work from four to 12 hours per day, the sessions sometimes running far into the night.

Without Fear or Favoritism.

"In presenting to your honorable court this report and in forming our indictments, this grand jury has had no easy task. We have reached our conclusions without fear or favoritism, and in order that the good name of the innocent may be clearly established, we have called many names in connection with this work, sparing no one who has been implicated in this grand jury and whether or not this evidence in every case warrants indictments, we believe that to furnish this information will go a long way.

Highlights of Probe Summarized by Jury

Summarizing its presentments, the grand jury made public Saturday night the following highlights of its investigation:

Declares that the retention of Walter Taylor, as city clerk will be a violation of the trust reposed in the general council.

Recommends that the duties of the city registrar be transferred to the tax assessor's office.

States the sooner the school department gets rid of Business Manager R. R. Ritchie the better off the city will be.

Flays the general system of elections, both regular and primary, and declares that a modern pure city election law should be passed.

Charges that Attorney Paul Carpenter, now a member of the council, has been in collusion with City Clerk Taylor in the past in handling matters for which large fees have been charged.

Declares that practically all businessmen and contractors and dealers in Atlanta either hesitate, or refuse, to seek business from Atlanta because of the condition of graft that exists.

Declares its faith in a number of clean, honest men in the city government, but says they have been dominated by a clique of scheming politicians who have been in power.

Criticizes Mayor Ragsdale for the use of tractors, men and material on his private land at "Ragsdale's Bottoms," also criticizes him for the manner in which he has made purchases for his own private use from the city.

Charges that Councilman W. C. McLendon, of the second ward, after his election in the primary last summer, but before he took his seat in council, demanded $1,000 but received only $600 for securing the passage of an ordinance for free paving for some of his friends.

Not only brings an indictment against J. Allen Couch, mayor pro tem, of the city, on a charge of receiving a commission on the sale of automobiles to the city, but commits on some of his past transactions on the school board, and suggests that the name of "J. Allen Couch school" should be changed.

Lays bare the plan of letting bids and the "juggling" that has occurred in the past in letting bids for all sorts of construction work.

Condemns the policy of the city government in letting so many important contracts to "foreign" contractors.

Goes thoroughly into the operations of the Southeastern Brokerage Company in its connection with city purchases and city contracts, stating that this company is owned and controlled by Jack White and Harry York, a city councilman.

Exposes case after case of fees and commissions alleged to have been demanded and received by Councilman York, City Clerk Walter Taylor and others.

"Pay-Off" Man Charged.

Declares there is a secret channel by which City Clerk Taylor is being given large contributions and charges that he is the "pay-off" man, making the statement that this grand jury did not have time to go sufficiently into the matter, recommends that the incoming grand jury follow this through.

Exposes many "loans and gifts" made to city officials, citing concrete instances.

Goes deeply into the matter of the purchase of automobile tires, and other supplies, bought through the city purchasing department, declaring that one concern is the favored house because of the connection of the purchasing agent's son with that company.

Suggests that the incoming grand jury should look into the matter of elaborate dinners, and other excesses, practiced at the Grady hospital.

Reiterates its stand on the illegality of the purchase of the John A. White park and the Chosewood park, stating that there is no need for these parks; that the prices for them were excessive, and recommends that no more money be spent by the city for them, or on them.

Brings strong criticism upon Councilman Chosewood, declaring that he has made use of much city material, and has been granted many favors which, even if paid for, should not have been allowed, and returns an indictment against him.

Severely condemns the practice of the construction department, or any other department, using city materials, and securing its materials from the city for holding barbecues, and other political "poor-people" dinners.

States that much complaint has come before the grand jury about the laying of sewers and the paving of streets under the baby bond plan, declaring that specifications have not been lived up to, and recommends that the incoming grand jury go thoroughly into these matters.

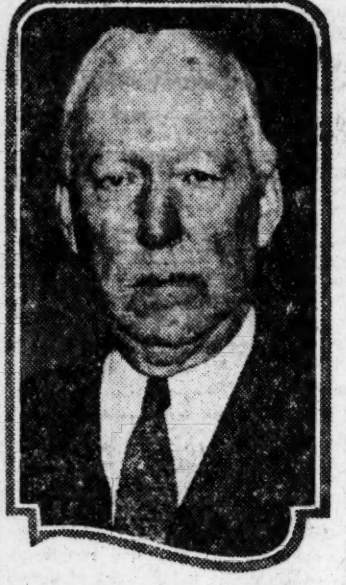

Keep Sutton on Job.

Goes deeply into the matter touching the school board, and declares that wanton waste and extravagance has characterized the work of this board under the direction of Business Manager Ritchie, and Superintendent of Schools Sutton. Not only states that Mr. Ritchie should be dropped from the system but declared that Professor Sutton should be required to "stay on the job," and that through him and the board of education, this department should operate within its appropriation from the city council, believing that the budget is sufficient to give to Atlanta a good school system.

Declares its faith in the personnel of the bond commission, but suggests that if its members could have heard, as the grand jury has heard for two months, the extravagance and the waste practiced in the construction of schools, and other contract work, that the members doubt the accuracy of its own statement that "every penny was wisely accounted for." It recommends that the incoming grand jury continue further, and more completely investigate into school matters.

Concludes with the statement that the people must be aroused and made to see their duty in purging the city of graft and that after all the ballot box is the place to remedy many of the sins and evils to which Atlanta has fallen heir.

True Bills Name York and Taylor

WALTER TAYLOR, City Clerk.

HARRY YORK, City Councilman.

Old City Clerk Fight Recalled By Indictments

When Press Huddleston, secretary of the retiring Fulton county grand jury probing municipal affairs, and Walter C. Taylor, veteran clerk of the borough of Atlanta, crossed swords about 16 years ago for the clerk's post, Huddleston was eliminated.

Saturday, Huddleston, as secretary of the inquisitorial body, read a summary of grand jury presentments containing a scathing criticism of the municipal official. The presentment was read before a large crowd gathered in Judge Virlyn B. Moore's chambers at the Fulton county courthouse.

At the same time, the grand jury returned indictments charging Taylor with bribery in 16 counts.

Another coincidence in connection with the matter is that the first clash between Taylor and Huddleston occurred about 16 years ago, the grand jury took about 16 weeks to bring its first indictments and they contained 16 counts against the city clerk.

Complete List of Indictments Returned By Fulton Jurors

- Walter C. Taylor, city clerk, on sixteen bribery counts.
- Harry York, councilman, and Jack White on six bribery counts.

- Mrs. J. E. Andrews and Mrs. J. R. Wakefield, indicted jointly for misdemeanor in connection with alleged libelous publication concerning John A. Boykin, solicitor-general.

Charges Are Denied By Accused Officials

City officials indicted Saturday by Fulton county grand jury after a four-month probe into alleged graft hit back Saturday night in statements and plans for their defense.

On the heels of the indictments those involved in the accusations declared the complaints were political, directed at the present mayor-councilman form of government.

Councilman Harry York, of the sixth ward, and Jack White, broker and editor of the Atlanta Tribune, a political publication, are slated to go on trial March 17 before Judge John D. Humphries. It was announced by Lewis Jones, calendar clerk. They will be the first of the 20 indicted to face the bar.

Will Retain Sims.

Both will retain former Mayor Walter A. Sims to represent them Monday, it was said Saturday night.

Councilman York charged the indictments of all those who came under the fire of the grand jury as being actuated by political enemies of the present form of government.

Walter C. Taylor, city clerk, who was indicted on 16 counts, issued a statement through his attorney, Sam D. Lewitt, prominent Atlanta lawyer, in which he entered a blanket denial of all the charges against him.

"I wish to say for Mr. Taylor that he denies every one of the charges filed against him," Mr. Lewitt said. "Our other answer will be made in court. The charges are without foundation as to fact."

Reuben R. Arnold will be associated with Mr. Hewlett in defense of Mr. Taylor and Councilman Charles L. Chosewood, it was said.

"This is simply another attack on this representative and democratic form of government," York said. "Atlanta, under this system of government, has grown and prospered in the past, and these attacks are directed by political enemies of officials. My record for the past eight years speaks for itself and is progressive, honest and untainted."

White Is Surprised.

Jack White, who also was indicted on many counts, declared they came as a distinct surprise to him inasmuch as the grand jury "declined to have me appear before it and submit all my records and transactions for their scrutiny."

"I never expected to be implicated in any of the charges which might be made, because I had offered myself and all the records of my office to the grand jury," White said. "They came as a surprise to me since the jury fail to avail itself of the offer I made. I felt that no breath of suspicion hung around any of my activities as a bona fide broker engaged in a legal business."

William A. Hansell, former chief of construction, issued a brief statement declaring he has "never done anything of which he himself, or my friends need feel ashamed or of which they need be concerned."

"My every act has been guarded by a desire to be honest with the people of Atlanta who elected me to my post and to whom I felt accountable," he stated.

No Chosewood Statement.

Councilman Chosewood declined to make any statement other than to deny his guilt of any wrong doing and declared his services have been for the best interests of the citizens of Atlanta. He is one of the oldest members of council in point of service.

Alderman J. E. Turner, of the second ward, said he knew nothing of the charges filed against him and declared he had never been guilty of an act which was not for the best interests of his constituents and for Atlanta as a whole.

"I have never done anything of which I am ashamed or which I would want hidden," he stated. "All my acts have been honest, prompted by a desire to serve."

Fred B. Wilson declared he had nothing to say concerning the matter.

Tom Ball, member of the city democratic executive committee, indicted jointly with Councilman Jack C. Hardy, of the sixth ward, declared he knew nothing of the charges against him, but added: "I have never done anything of which I am ashamed or which I would want to hide, and am not guilty of the charge."

Councilman Hardy had no statement to make, declaring he would make one at the proper time.

W. P. Price, city purchasing agent, issued the following statement: "I emphatically deny any charges against me. All my dealings with the city have been honest."

Mayor I. N. Ragsdale left early Saturday night for St. Louis because of the serious illness of his daughter, Mrs. Mary Brown.

Mrs. Ragsdale and Mrs. Brown motored to St. Louis last week to visit Mrs. J. B. Suttles, the mayor's daughter, and Mrs. Brown was taken ill suddenly. The mayor was summoned to her bedside early Saturday, but remained in Atlanta as long as possible. He could not be reached for a statement concerning grand jury criticisms of the administration. He will arrive at St. Louis about noon today.

Roy D. Warren, former school commissioner, from the 10th ward, charged with bribery, said that he had no statement to make.

Ben Massell, real estate man, charged with perjury before the grand jury, issued a blanket denial of the charge, stating that he told the grand jury the truth.

J. R. Leach, former superintendent of the dairy farm, charged with three counts of simple larceny, said that he had no statement to make.

Councilman W. E. Saunders, of the 12th ward, charged with bribery, said, "I don't know what it's all about. I have retained counsel. I plead not guilty."

Hansell, Saunders, Couch and Price Named by Jurors

Councilmen Chosewood and Hardy Indicted; Jack White, Business Partner of York, Is Included in List; Perjury Charged to Ben Massell and to Richard Shoup; Roy D. Warren Is Accused of Bribery.

BONDS FOR TAYLOR, WHITE AND YORK PLACED BY COURT AT $10,000 EACH

York and White Are Scheduled To Go on Trial First Under Bribery Indictment on March 17 Before Jury in Court of Judge Humphries; Libel Is Charged to Mrs. Andrews and Mrs. Wakefield.

Smashing its first blow at what it termed a reign of corruption and intrigue the Fulton grand jury Saturday night climaxed the four-month-old investigation into the conduct of municipal affairs with indictments against 20 persons, of whom 11 were officials and former officials of the city, accompanying them with a 65-page presentment, the longest in the county's history—a scathing denunciation of the accused and their methods of serving the people who gave them a public trust.

City Clerk Walter C. Taylor and Councilman Harry York of the sixth ward, together with Jack White, York's business partner, bore the brunt of the grand jury's veritable avalanche of charges, the former being indicted for bribery on 16 counts, and once for defrauding the city, Councilman York on six bribery counts, 13 accusations charging misdemeanors and four alleging fraud, while White is to be held on six bribery counts and four charging fraud.

FIVE MEMBERS OF COUNCIL INCLUDED IN TRUE BILLS.

Councilman W. E. Saunders, chairman of the board of firemasters, was indicted once on two bribery counts, while a true bill of indictment was returned against Alderman J. Allen Couch, mayor pro tem., charging him with a misdemeanor—an attempt to become interested in a city contract. Dr. J. E. Turner, a councilman, and a fellow member, Charles L. Chosewood, Sr., were indicted for alleged simple larceny, while Councilman Jack Hardy was indicted jointly with Tom Ball, a painter and political leader, on a misdemeanor charge.

City Purchasing Agent W. P. Price was indicted for alleged fraud on four counts, while William A. Hansell, former city chief of construction, faces one charge of simple larceny.

Two charges of bribery were returned, one against Ben Massell, and the other against Richard C. Shoup, both real estate men, while Fred Wilson, a merchant, was indicted on a charge of fraud and Roy D. Warren, former member of the board of education, for alleged bribery.

TWO WOMEN INDICTED ON CHARGES OF LIBEL.

The grand jury indicted Mrs. J. E. Andrews and Mrs. James Rogers Wakefield, for alleged criminal libel; Bruce Baxter, superintendent of the city garage for alleged larceny; J. R. Leach, former superintendent of the dairy farm for alleged larceny, with a similar charge being returned against J. E. (Red) Robinson, former foreman of a city construction department gang.

In connection with the indictment of Mrs. Andrews and Mrs. Wakefield it was pointed out that they are in no way concerned with the alleged bribes and others accused. The indictment against the two women grew out of an article signed with Mrs. Andrews' name and appearing in the November edition of a paper edited by Mrs. Wakefield, in which Solicitor-General Boykin was attacked and a demand made that he be suspended during the city hall probe and the conduct of his office later investigated.

The indictments were handed to Judge Moore after the January grand jury had worked practically every day and every night since it took office and almost four months after the inquiry was launched by the November grand jury following an editorial in the Constitution calling attention of that body to the statement of Alderman Ben T. Huie on the floor of council, that graft and bribery were being practiced openly and that "deals" were being flagrantly arranged in the city hall itself.

CROWDED COURTROOM LISTENS TO REPORT.

A well-crowded courtroom, with Judge Moore presiding, greeted the weary grand jurors as they came in, led by W. Rawson Collier, their foreman; Solicitor-General John A. Boykin.

SIX PERSONS INJURED IN SERIES OF MISHAPS

Three Pedestrians Victims of Autos; Two Cases Made.

Six persons, three of them pedestrians, were injured in automobile accidents in Atlanta Saturday afternoon and night. Two cases of reckless driving were docketed by police in connection with one of the crashes. The only accident in which no pedestrians figured occurred at the intersection of West Peachtree street and Ponce de Leon avenue when a car driven by Dr. R. H. Pharr, of Dulac, collided. According to reports of Call officers Ed Norwood and M. D. Evans, who investigated, Dr. Pharr was driving north on West Peachtree, and Pharr was driving south on West Peachtree. The latter was attempting to make a right turn into Ponce de Leon when the crash occurred, the report said.

Mrs. Johns, who was riding with her husband, was cut about the head and face with flying glass and Mrs. Pharr, wife of the other driver, also was slightly injured. J. F. McDougal, of 35 Peachtree road, riding in the Johns car, was cut on the lip. Cases of reckless driving were docketed against both drivers.

Mrs. H. L. Boney, 255 Woodward avenue, was struck down at the intersection of Pryor and Woodward and suffered a broken left leg and bruises about the arms and body. She was crossing Pryor when hit by a car said to have been driven north on Pryor street by Zack Adamson, of Hapeville. No cases were made by Call officers Tom Glover and Olan Williams, who investigated.

Press Greer, of Norcross, was struck down on Bankhead avenue near Oliver street by a car driven by O. M. Brown, of 553 Ninth street. Greer was injured slightly and received treatment at Grady hospital. He is said to have stepped from behind a parked car directly into the path of the approaching machine. No case was made.

Late Saturday afternoon Miss Katherine Dougherty, of 1039 Lee street, was struck down on Lee street at Gamgee crossing by a car said to have been driven by T. St. Johns, of 575 Woodward avenue. Her right leg was severely injured and she was treated at Grady hospital. No case was made against the driver.

Hutcheson for smuggling Chinese into the United States. Both pleaded guilty. After their release, they will be turned over to immigration authorities for deportation.

Nine Chinese, whom the two were accused of bringing into the United States were sentenced to one month and 24 days in jail. Since they had been held at New Orleans from the date of their arrest, January 4, they were ordered discharged and released to immigration authorities for deportation. They pleaded guilty to charges of illegal entry.

The men were said to have been taken on the steamer at Iquique, Chile, November 11, while the ship was docked there. They entered the United States at Houston January 2.

SPAIN FEELS HAND OF LANCET AGAIN

Murmurs Against Monarchy Cause Tightening of Censorship.

MADRID, March 1.—(P)—After the downfall of one dictatorship only a few weeks ago, Spain today resumed to virtually the same form of government.

The government of Premier Damaso Berenguer, which promised at first to be a new broad sweeping clean after the De Rivera dictatorship, has within the past two days gone back to the rigid censorship and restraint of free political assembly and public expression that characterized the regime of Primo De Rivera.

This was an eventuality prophesied by De Rivera on leaving office. He said that Spain could not now be governed without a dictatorship.

Elections Postponed.

Premier Berenguer, after changing many of the acts and statutes of the predecessor, apparently has recognized the aptness of this idea in present conditions. Disorders and open warfare have been rampant since the overthrow of the dictatorship. The council of ministers last night decided indefinitely to postpone the local and general elections throughout Spain. All pending political meetings here were suspended and the threat of martial law hangs over the country.

The government and prominent politicians of other groups have rallied to the support of the king.

Senor Calvo Sotelo, finance minister under Primo De Rivera, in a newspaper article today declared that responsibility for the acts of the government during the De Rivera regime should be placed squarely on the shoulders of the fallen dictator and the members of his cabinet and that the king must be cleared of any responsibility for them.

King Alfonso, meanwhile, is keeping his close personal touch with all developments in the general political situation. He has daily conferences with Premier Berenguer and received reports from army leaders.

Sanchez Guerra Unmolested.

These assurances which the government is firmly determined to defend the monarchy and to check any republican movement. More than a dozen arrests have been made in Madrid in connection with the demonstrations against the monarchy which followed Sanchez Guerra's speech Thursday night. Some students who shouted "Death to the king! Long live the republic," after the former liberal premier's meeting are believed to be among the prisoners and it is said they have been charged with treason to the crown.

Though Sanchez Guerra's speech was the particular cause of the government's sudden show of the iron hand Sanchez Guerra himself has not been molested. The secret police, however, are keeping watch upon him, and as many others suspected of or known to have republican leanings.

Premier Berenguer, in addition to tightening up on the screws on the domestic press, has ordered a closer watch kept on outgoing foreign dispatches.

A large detachment of police today broke up a student demonstration against the monarchy. Several arrests were made.

Students of the Central University marched out crying "down with the king" and were met by another group of students loyal to the monarchy who cheered for King Alfonso.

The government announced tonight that 16 persons had been arrested in connection with the demonstrations after the Sanchez Guerra speech on Thursday.

STUDENTS JAILED IN BARCELONA RIOT.

BARCELONA, Spain, March 1.—(P)—Two students were arrested tonight after fighting with policemen during a demonstration by 3,000 young men, most of whom were students and workmen, in the principal streets of the city.

The demonstrators carried banners requesting the authorities to extend the recent royal amnesty to all political and social prisoners.

Gathering in front of the provisional legislature building the students shouted for the officials to appear on the balconies, but none of them were there. The crowd then dispersed in an orderly way.

Moore Wills Wealth

To Queen of Spain

PITTSBURGH, March 1.—(P)—The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph today said that the late Ambassador Alexander P. Moore had bequeathed Queen Victoria Eugenia of Spain, $100,000. Officers of the Union Trust Company, executors of the estate, said the will would be filed for probate early next week.

Moore formerly was American ambassador to Spain and admired the activities of the queen in her work to relieve the poor.

Mrs. Mildred Martin, niece of Mr. Moore, and hostess for him at the American embassy at Madrid, said that she had heard reports of the bequest and that if they were true it was probable that it was stipulated the money was to be used in Queen Victoria Eugenia's charities.

QUEEN MAY ACCEPT MOORE BEQUEST.

MADRID, March 1.—(P)—Reports from Pittsburgh that the late Alexander P. Moore, former American ambassador to Spain, had bequeathed $100,000 to Queen Victoria of Spain, aroused much interest in court circles here today. Officials, however, were unable to confirm them or deny them.

The picturesque personality of Mr. Moore had attracted all the members of the royal family, and they had manifested their fondness for the breezy American who addressed King Alfonso and Queen Victoria simply and informally as "King" and "Queen."

The king and Mr. Moore were quite good friends. In addressing what he intended to be his highest compliment to the queen, Mr. Moore told her at a court reception that she great resembled his deceased wife, Lillian Russell.

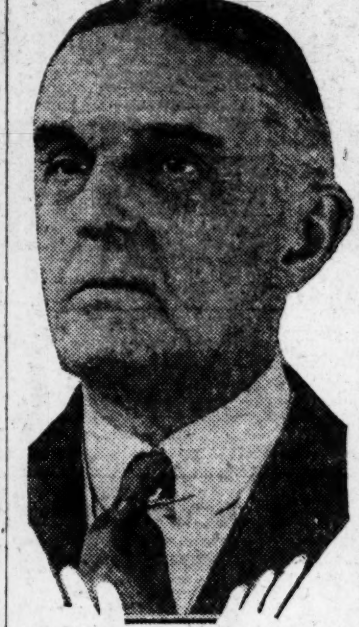

The Spanish court has a tradition against the acceptance of such bequests as that rumored to be in Mr. Moore's will. The tradition has sometimes, however, been violated.

Sandino Sails.

VERA CRUZ, March 1.—(P)—Augustine Sandino, exiled Nicaraguan insurgent leader, and his companions, embarked Friday on the steamship Cahuila for Merida, Yucatan, where he will resume his residence. Before he left he broached plans to form an "alliance" Latin American forces of representatives of all the American nations. Its purpose would be to disavow the Monroe Doctrine.

Two Persons Killed
By Infected Meat

WAYNE, Pa., March 1.—(P)—Two persons are dead and fourteen others ill here from trichinosis, the result of eating diseased pork.

The dead were John Mansoto and his sister-in-law, Mrs. Alfred Mansoto. The latter died on Wednesday and the brother-in-law the next day.

The fourteen ill included John Novelle, a neighbor, his wife and three children. Others ill had been invited to a dinner at Mansoto's house.

Mansoto and Novelle two weeks ago bought a pig from a nearby farmer. The pig was found to be infected with trichinosis. The dinner followed.

"When the cases were reported to us," said Dr. Richard P. Leinhardt, of the Radnor township board of health, "we confiscated what was left of the meat and had it examined. The investigation disclosed the presence of trichinosis."

The case was reported to the state board of health.

Dispatches Confirm

Killings in China

HONG KONG, March 1.—(P)—A dispatch from Shantung, Kwangtung today confirmed the murder of the Salesian bishop, Monsignor Versiglia, Father Caravario, and three Chinese nuns, several days ago near Suiping.

The story told here is that ruffians attempted to seize the three sisters. They failed, however, and the missionaries were taken to a nearby village, whereupon the marauders beat them, seized their belongings, burned the boat in which they were riding, and carried all in the mountains. Priests Friday went to negotiate their release, but found the five bodies pierced with bullets. They removed them to the nearest town.

SUCCESS OF PARLEY SOUGHT IN PRAYER

BY FRANK H. KING.
Associated Press Staff Writer.

LONDON, March 1.—(P)—The prayers of thousands of sincere men and women were raised impressively in England today for the success of the London naval conference.

While Andrew Tardieu in Paris hastened to complete his new cabinet, and while the American and Japanese delegations in London rested their important negotiations over the weekend preparatory to resuming full conference deliberations next week, services of intercession for naval disarmament filled two places of worship to overflowing.

The first was in City Temple, best known non-conformist church in London. There a Church of England paragon, the bishop of Winchester, addressed a large congregation.

Then a procession was formed and 1,500 persons, from high to low, marched to hallowed Westminster Abbey for an impressive service of similar character.

"They marched slowly and solemnly, these men and women of middle life, who have seen war and its aftermath, who profess little knowledge of high politics and technicalities of sea power, but personally the world masses desirous of making some gesture toward permanent peace."

As they marched they passed two of the many London monuments to figures of war—that of Nurse Edith Cavell and the Cenotaph, which cradles the nation's tribute to Great Britain's fallen World War dead.

The services that followed at Westminster Abbey were broadcast to the empire. They were part of the Christ the King movement, which aims at the spiritual unity of the world.

The success of the London conference is necessary as a basis for international security and permanent peace.

Energy of Hens

Defeats Aim

Of Egg 'Bulls'

CHICAGO, March 1.—(P)—The great American hen had something to cackle about today—sort of a hen coup.

Samuel A. Sugar, head of Sugar Brothers, Inc., gave some of the details. He was a member of a group of egg dealers which claimed to have made a quarter of a million dollars in recent weeks through their confidence in the nation's favorite fowl.

"Early in February," he said, "the price of eggs ranged from 27 to 30 cents. Then the price broke to 25 cents. The 'bulls,' confident that prices would go up, tried to corner the market so they might control prices."

"The trouble was that the hen kept right on turning out eggs. February was a month of spring weather. Hens laid as they never had laid before at this season of the year. As fast as the 'bulls' bought, new trainloads of eggs poured into town. The retail price went down to the lowest it has been since 1924."

Sugar estimated that the unwanted activity of the American hen cost the "bulls" on the Chicago market more than half a million dollars.

DRY LEADERS SILENT ON HEARING PLANS

WASHINGTON, March 1.—(P)—The drys said today that they would wait until the "wet fling" was over before making public the witnesses they intend to marshal before the house judiciary committee in support of prohibition.

The wet and their presentation of the dark side of the eighteenth amendment Tuesday and the Rev. Edwin C. Dinwiddie, secretary of the National Association of Organizations Supporting the Eighteenth Amendment, in a statement asserted that the dry plans "will be kept secret until then."

W. W. Atterbury and Pierre S. DuPont, men of influence in the financial world, have testified at the hearings that they thought prohibition a failure. Reports that the prohibitionists will counter with Henry Ford, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and A. P. Sloan, who are equally prominent in the world of business, have been heard in and out of the committee room, but Chairman Graham said today he had no information on dry plans.

Lad Passes 26th Unconscious Day

UKIAH, Cal., March 1.—(P)—Jack Harvey, 14-year-old Ukiah school boy, today had been unconscious 26 days. He was knocked from his bicycle by an automobile and his brain paralyzed.

Twice since the boy was taken to the Ukiah General hospital his temperature has soared to 107 degrees and his pulse is abnormally fast. His condition today was pronounced critical.

Young Harvey is being given nourishment by injections into his veins of salt and glucose solution.

Good Year Enjoyed
By Express Company

Announcement that 1929 marked the most prosperous year of the Southeastern Express Company since its organization was made by J. E. Stages, president, in a statement Saturday. Mr. Stages announced the promotion of G. W. York, head of the Atlanta territory, to the newly created post of assistant to the president.

Another announcement of local interest is the appointment of R. H. Vogel, general agent of the Atlanta operation, as head of the Atlanta division reporting direct to the president.

At a meeting held last Thursday afternoon at the Chamber of Commerce were assembled nearly 100 businessmen, representing various lines of business, called by President Horace Russell to consider a plan for encouraging activities in building lines, providing more employment in building activities, and "selling Atlanta on Atlanta" by the suggestion that building homes, improving old homes, improving real estate, would bring about a general activity along building lines. The talks made by many of those present indicated that the idea was generally approved. It was considered probable that an advertising campaign, to awaken the public to the value of Atlanta real estate, would be productive of results.

Alleged Holdup Man
Wounded by Officer

Suspected of being one of three white hold-up men, Alfred Odum, 23, of 733 Jefferson street, was shot in the left leg by Patrolman J. A. LeFite on the Spring street viaduct late Saturday night as he and a companion ran when the officer approached them for questioning.

Patrolman Ergle was summoned to the viaduct by Lewis Heard, negro, living at 1030 Berkley street. Heard, who is an employee of the J. A. LeFite Transfer Company, located under the viaduct, told the officer that three white men had attempted to hold up the offices of the company.

When the policeman arrived on the scene of the alleged hold-up he found Odum and another man talking in the shadow of a concrete post. He started towards them for questioning and when they are said to have fled, Officer Ergle fired, wounding Odum in the left leg.

Odum was treated at Grady hospital and then locked up at police headquarters on charges of disorderly conduct and attempted robbery. He was being held early Sunday morning in default of a $500 bond. Police are seeking his companion.

Chairmen Named In Home-Ownings Campaign Here

Definite action in the movement sponsored by the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce to build up home-owning and home-building in Atlanta and its suburbs was taken Saturday by Horace Russell, president of the chamber, who appointed chairmen of seven committees to head as many different interests in the work.

President Russell's appointments were: George W. West, building materials; Ronald Ransom, bankers; T. Thorne Flagler, contractors; W. J. Sayward, architects; Charles D. McKinney, real estate loans; Ivan Allen, property owners; Alvin B. Cates, realtors.

At a meeting held last Thursday afternoon at the Chamber of Commerce were assembled nearly 100 businessmen, representing various lines of business, called by President Horace Russell to consider a plan for encouraging activities in building lines, providing more employment in building activities, and "selling Atlanta on Atlanta" by the suggestion that building homes, improving old homes, improving real estate, would bring about a general activity along building lines. The talks made by many of those present indicated that the idea was generally approved. It was considered probable that an advertising campaign, to awaken the public to the value of Atlanta real estate, would be productive of results.

3-Year Sentence

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., March 1.—(P)—Anthony "Musky" Zanghi, Philadelphia gangster, was today given the maximum penalty of three years imprisonment for carrying a concealed weapon. The jury in his case deliberated nine hours.

AUTO RUNS 59 MILES
ON GALLON OF GAS

Automobile engineers who worked for years in an effort to reduce gasoline consumption have found the solution in a marvelous invention that fits all cars. An actual test made by one of the engineers showed 59 miles on a gallon of gas. Thousands of car owners have already installed this new invention. They not only report amazing gas savings but are also prepared to find quicker pick-up, instant starting, smoother running motors and disappearance of carbon. E. Oliver, 600-6400 E. Third St., Milwaukee, Wis., for a limited time is offering a free device to those who will help introduce it. Grave Problems Face Hoover As First Year in Office Ends

Administration Majority Up for Re-election Makes Situation More Perplexing.

BY PAUL R. MALLON.

WASHINGTON, March 1.—(UN)—President Hoover will celebrate his first anniversary in the White House at noon next Tuesday with domestic and foreign problems piled high on his desk. Few presidents have been beset by so many different issues at home and abroad in the first year of their administration.

His disarmament plans have encountered difficulties in London. In the face of a new farm relief measure, there has been $1 wheat in the Chicago pit and the new farm board is taxing its resources and energy to meet the admittedly difficult situation of a wheat surplus.

Unemployment disorders are being reported in the large cities. The winter drop of prices in Wall Street has not yet been stabilized. The financial state of the government has been announced to be precarious, but congressional leaders have assured the president his demand for economy will be met.

Wet witnesses before the house judiciary committee have challenged his position on law enforcement and a storm, ten years in the brewing, is ready to break in congress shortly on the prohibition problem.

A coalition of anti-administration republicans and democrats is rewriting a republican tariff bill in the senate. This tariff issue with prohibition has brought a break between the president and some of his most ardent campaigners, including Senators Borah, of Idaho, and Brookhart, of Iowa.

To make these unusual problems more perplexing, the administration majority in congress is to go into a campaign for re-election in the fall. In the face of these gathering clouds Mr. Hoover has worked with a swift hand in executive business which has antagonized the slow moving politicians of Washington. From the moment he summoned his extra session of congress for farm relief, shortly after he took office last March 4, he has crowded the days with new announcements of policy.

The farm relief bill establishing the farm board was adopted early in the session and signed. This and the $16,000,000 tax reduction authorized to maintain business confidence after the stock market slump are the outstanding legislative achievements of his first year.

In addition the congress has, at his recommendation, enacted a congressional reapportionment bill, a $15,000,000 measure for new hospitals for disabled veterans, and increased the allotments for public buildings and good roads.

Most of the business the president has initiated is yet unfinished. The disarmament conference is not concluded, although advocates of both a big and a little navy in the senate, which must ratify any treaty drafted, have voiced dissatisfaction with its progress, though reserving final judgment until negotiations are concluded.

The numerous commissions appointed to deal with varying problems, ranging from prohibition to child welfare, have not completed their work. The Wickham law enforcement commission has submitted a preliminary report to congress recommending seven legislative measures to reform existing enforcement conditions.

Only one of the seven Wickham measures is expected to be enacted at this session of congress, the proposal to transfer prohibition enforcement from the treasury to the justice department, which the house has approved. Some of the others have met opposition, particularly that proposing to change the procedure in United States commissioners' courts to handle petty cases.

President Hoover has found most of his opposition comes from congress, which is not a new experience for presidents, although it is a new one for a man who has for many years been accustomed as a business executive to give orders and have them followed.

With the entire house and one-third of the senate up for re-election in the fall, members of congress have devoted themselves rather to their own political problems, in which personal interest frequently conflicts with the president's aims.

The situation has developed two divergent opinions among political observers. Those who are kindly toward Mr. Hoover believe his numerous problems will be all ironed out in the next three years and that the method in which he has handled them will cause his re-election in 1932.

His opponents predict a rough road for him. A problem that will have as much bearing as any other now pending on his re-election in 1932 is the business and unemployment situation. It is perhaps more filled than any other with political potentialities, and the president is giving it much thought.

Officials here expect a stimulation of industrial activity in the spring. They point out that January and February are normally dull months and that employment is likely to be lowest at this season. Among other things, bad weather halts highway construction which absorbs much unemployment.

Alabama Woman Will Not Enter Race for Senate

WASHINGTON, March 1.—(AP)—Miss Susan L. Davis, who stays "in Washington but lives in Athens, Ala.," has decided not to make the race for the senatorial nomination in her native state.

She wrote John Brandon, Alabama secretary of state, the other day, asking how to go about getting in the contest, but she said today that she had changed her mind "because a Bankhead is in the race and I wouldn't like to run against a Bankhead."

Miss Davis, white-haired but by no means elderly, added that she had understood that John Bankhead intended to withdraw. That and the request of friends had caused her to think of "throwing my bonnet in the ring."

"Well," she drawled, "I find that I understood too much. No, the Bankheads are among our very best people. John Bankhead's father fought for Confederacy, fought hard, too. He digressed long enough to say that she wrote the history of the Klan in Alabama. "I did a lot of digging out about 1924," she commented. "I got it out about 1924—The Authentic History of Ku Klux Klan, 1865-1927."

Lauds Bankheads. "What I'm saying about the Bankheads? Oh, yes, fine people. Now, don't misunderstand me. The Hellins are fine people, too—I don't like J. Tom politically, not one bit—but the Thompsons are fine people, too. But, you see, I understand that some of them got off on the wrong track in the last election. I'm a democrat. Always will be."

"Now I had five uncles in the Confederate army and my father—" She paused and shook her head, and then laughed heartily.

"You see," she explained, "he raised a regiment and they intended to make him colonel but he was a little deaf. They got another man and he was short-sighted. The first thing you know he got the whole regiment up too close and they were shot up pretty bad."

"I know you don't care about all that," she smiled, "but I always laugh a little when I think of one of my uncles—things are funny you know and said too—he was shot through the back, hurt bad and he wouldn't go home. Kept right on with the army. "There's a girl down here," he told the general, "and if I went back I never could explain how I happened to get shot in the back." And he didn't get either till the war was over," she added.

"No, I never ran for office in my life, but I had two sisters in politics. Oh, everybody in Alabama knows about them. No use going into all that. I just came in to get word to the people down in Alabama that I don't intend to run. Couldn't do much worse than some of the men, but that's neither here nor there."

She gathered up her purse and walked directly to the door. But there she paused for a moment.

"Do you think the democrats have got a chance in 1932? I'm against whisky, but the democratic party reminds me of an old saying: 'It's a long time between drinks.'"

MEDICAL DISCOVERY AVAILABLE SHORTLY

Fluid for Treatment of Certain Feminine Ills To Be Introduced.

TORONTO, March 1.—(By the Canadian Press.)—A "Placental crystalline extract," the discovery of which was recently announced to the world by Dr. J. B. Collip, of McGill University, Montreal, will be made available to physicians immediately under certain specific conditions for treatment of women afflicted with certain functional disorders.

Dr. Collip made this announcement in a speech last night before a gathering of medical men, bio-chemists, chemists and research workers.

Dr. Collip stipulated that all cases to be treated shall be thoroughly examined to determine if they fall into the classification of disorders already shown to be amenable to the extract treatment. He also insists that if they do, the patients shall be treated in a hospital and under the most careful observation.

Warm tribute was paid Dr. Collip, their former associate in the perfection of insulin, by Dr. F. G. Banting and Dr. C. H. Best, co-discoverers of insulin.

Owing to the natural limitations on the production of the extract and the fact that the application of the discovery is still in the early stages, Dr. Collip feels that the greatest care must be exercised in its use and experimentation by himself as well as others.

Discussing forth the achievements and possibilities of his extract thus far indicated, Dr. Collip said it had proved encouragingly valuable in adjusting certain feminine disorders. Success had been obtained, he said, in a dominant majority of cases treated with restorations of normal functioning, gains in weight and vanishing of nervous afflictions.

Dr. Collip added that a few preliminary tests had been conducted in cases of disorderly menopause and toxemia of pregnancy. Enough success had been obtained in these fields, he said, to warrant further experimentation.

Discussing his early experiments with rats and mice, Dr. Collip paid tribute to numerous workers who had preceded him in the same field with varying success. He acknowledged particularly the work of Dr. Wesinger, of Edinburgh university, who isolated an unpurified product similar in origin to Collip's extract, and whose work suggested the direction of the McGill scientist's researches.

Bank Head Routs Would-Be Robbers

HUMBOLDT, Ill., March 1.—(AP)—Two would-be bank robbers found their match today in John W. Poorman, president of the First National bank. He not only prevented them from robbing the bank, but soundly thrashed them.

The pair entered the bank and started to head off Poorman. He, however, was not to be outdone. He drew a pistol and fired. The robbers, apparently believing they had wounded or killed Poorman, started to ransack the vault. When they discovered Poorman had escaped, they dropped the loot, fled from the bank. Jumped into an automobile bearing a Missouri license, and sped toward Mattoon, only to encounter the Mattoon police. Scores of shots were exchanged before the bandits finally escaped.

'Dead' Mate Back, Sued by Spouse

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., March 1.—(AP)—Officially declared dead years ago, Alexander Napierkowski, who supposedly committed suicide in a jail cell here on August 24, 1924, yesterday walked into the home of his wife at Westfield, near here, and calmly announced that he had come home to stay.

His wife, Mrs. Catherine Napierkowski, wasted no time in swearing out a warrant for his arrest on a non-support charge. He was arrested. Speculation was rife in Westfield as to who the man was who had himself in the cell and was buried in potter's field.

Further than saying that he had been south, Napierkowski refused to give an account of himself.

Mueller Cabinet Crisis Is Feared

BERLIN, March 1.—(AP)—German political observers tonight feared that a cabinet crisis would develop for the Mueller government Monday when the ministers gather to vote on the financial program. The coalition government is in difficulties because of the categorical refusal of the people's party to sanction a bill proposing a single tax levy on incomes of $4,000 marks (about $2,016) or more annually.

The populists may carry their disapproval so far as to withdraw from the coalition. It became obvious today that they were unwilling to change their attitude toward the bill.

Simple Services Held for Snook

COLUMBUS, Ohio, March 1.—(AP)—Funeral services were held today in the Snook case when the body of Howard Snook, former Ohio State University professor, was buried in Green Lawn cemetery here.

Dr. Snook died in the electric chair at Ohio penitentiary last night for the murder of Theora K. Hix last June 13.

The body was taken by an undertaker designated by Mrs. Helen Marple Snook, his widow, and before midnight was removed to his former home on Tenth avenue.

SOLDIERS REPORTED DESERTING RED ARMY

Group of 20 Said To Have Crossed Into Polish City.

WARSAW, Poland, March 1.—(AP)—The Polish press today published reports that a detachment of twenty soviet border guards, fully armed and headed by an officer, crossed the Polish border during the night and reported at the Polish station in the town of Lannin.

Because of the steady crossing of the Polish border by soviet peasants, Warsaw newspapers have sent special correspondents to the frontier. The correspondent of the Warsaw Morning Express today reported that the number of refugees from Russia was growing hourly. He said the refugees were exhausted and many of them bore wounds inflicted by pursuing soviet patrols. This correspondent said he had been told by the refugees that the soviet government had sent to the border specialists denouncing conditions which are destroying and burning entire villages.

The correspondent reported that he had witnessed a border fight between peasants and soviet guards. Several peasants were killed but the rest were captured by the patrols.

Florida Utopian County Planned By New Yorker

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., March 1.—(AP)—The Evening Record says today that August Hecksher, New York philanthropist, intends to carry out a Utopian scheme in St. John's county, Florida.

Mr. Hecksher has spent some time recently with officials of the St. John's County Welfare Association, studying the work, sources of revenue and methods of operation. He has conceived the idea that it would be beneficial to Florida and the entire south to build up an example county in which there will be no poverty, no preventable sufferings, and no medical cases or avoidable diseases.

At the same time announcement was made that Mr. Hecksher has donated considerable outdoor and athletic equipment to the Florida Normal and Industrial institute, a school for negroes, west of this city.

The donation included a large and modern swimming pool, a quarter-mile cinder track, and a well-equipped gymnasium. The latter will be sufficiently large to serve as an auditorium and an eating place for the whole student body.

The gift to the school was said to be in line with the work Mr. Hecksher hopes to carry out throughout the county with the aid of residents.

Barricaded Youth Killed by Posse

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., March 1.—(AP)—Bonifacio Torres, 16-year-old youth, who shot and wounded three peace officers of Valencia county this morning, was shot and killed by a deputy sheriff just as darkness settled over the home where he was barricaded. He had held off a posse of 400 men all afternoon.

The youth kept up a continual fire on the posse until Deputy Sheriff Raymond Lovato leaped through a first floor window and shot the boy through the heart while other members of the posse were firing on him from another direction.

Ten gas bombs and dynamite were used in vain and possumen finally decided on an attempt to rush him in his barricade.

Gas torches were made, saturated with gasoline and thrown upon the house. The smoke and fire drove the boy outside for air and then members of the posse advanced from several directions, forcing up a main door to the burning building. Torres was firing at the possumen when Lovato leaped through a window and shot him.

Independent Artists Depict Prohibition as Entirely Evil

Lambast Hoover and Practice of Poisoning Alcohol

NEW YORK, March 1.—(UN)—The good, the true and the beautiful assumed some astonishing forms tonight at the Grand Central galleries when the Society of Independent Artists, 700 strong, sprung its annual exhibition on the dear public.

About 1,200 results of the soul-searching of remarkably untrammelled artists enriched the walls of the galleries and threatened at times to throw some of the more sensitive visiting patrons into hysterics.

One particularly spirited canvas depicts President Hoover in the guise of a delicate clerk engaged in weighing a bologna labeled "prohibition." This work, in common with a good many artistic conceptions, has its subtlety. The point, critics called upon to note, is that the scales are registering zero.

Many of the independents are great crusaders and the one who struck the crushing blow at the noble experiment through the medium of a gravity-defying bologna has a more bitter confidante who shows Uncle Sam as the devil, engaged in the sinister pastime of poisoning whisky. An added touch to this one is "Death" giving Uncle Sam a friendly pat on the back.

Another canvas—12 feet by 10 in size and the largest picture in the show—is devoted to blasting Police Commissioner Grover A. Whalen. It is the work of members of the John Reed Club and depicts mounted policemen, referred to by communists as "Whalen's Cossacks," happily engaged in the pastime of beating American ideals into the craniums of communists with their night sticks.

A more romantic theme is tackled by Stuyvesant Van Veen, aged 19. He exhibits a nude entitled, "Hilda Peveled." The absence of Hilda's scanties led a near-sighted old lady to study her catalog and remark, "Hilda Peveled—how quaint!"

Hilda attracted no little attention, especially since it was possible to make out what Hilda was. On the other score, there is an egg that attracted no less because nobody could sway came to the States for medical attention. Miss Swenson enjoyed her experiences to the utmost, she said. She wore a mackinaw jacket, riding it again.

Now Majestic GUARANTEES No Reduction in Prices!

Realizing that a satisfied owner is the greatest advertisement of all, Majestic has always sought to have its owners proud of their purchase. Majestic owners are proud of their Majestic sets. To prove it, look around you—make inquiries—ask your neighbor who owns a Majestic. And many more than two million happy people do own them.

In the "For Sale" columns of the want ad sections of great city dailies, you will find hundreds of other sets "For Sale Cheap," but you seldom find a Majestic thus advertised.

In fact, it's hard to buy a "second-hand" Majestic. Dealers will tell you that the few times they do take in a Majestic it is usually part payment on a new Majestic; and the "old Majestic" is sold so quickly there is hardly time to even wipe off the dust. In practically every section of the country the dealers' own Blue Book, which gives the official trade-in price of every make of radio set, classifies Majestic as having the highest trade-in value of any radio set in the country.

This bespeaks pride of ownership. But this ad gives you another definite reason why you can be prouder still of any Majestic you are thinking of buying.

Effective immediately, Grigsby-Grunow guarantees that the company will not reduce the list prices of its present models up to January 1, 1931.

Pause and realize the significance of the above announcement—Majestic, the world's largest manufacturers of complete radio receivers, can only make it because of having already put into effect every saving possible through mass production and mass purchasing power. Majestic has priced its present series of sets at the lowest possible figures at which quality merchandise, of the standard required by Majestic engineers, can be produced—has instituted the most economical distribution methods known to the industry.

Your investment is safe with Majestic—safe as to quality, safe as to price. If you have hesitated to buy a Majestic, being confused at the lurid offers of bankrupt merchandise being dumped on the market, go this day to any authorized Majestic Dealer and buy your Majestic. You can feel absolutely confident that you are buying a good money's worth and absolute security on value, not to mention the most important thing of all—your pride in owning a set that is the finest that hands and brains can create.

GAS COMPANY SEEKS ORIGINAL STOVES

Mrs. G. R. Stocker Claims To Have Used Fuel First for Cooking.

With general adoption by Atlanta of natural gas as domestic fuel has come the discovery that Mrs. G. R. Stocker, of 61 Eighth street, N. E., owned the first gas stove ever used in this city, bought more than half a century ago from a Baltimore firm. While gas lights were in existence in the city as early as 1856, the Atlanta Gas Light Company, which has supplied the city with gas continuously since 1866, recently discovered that no records were in existence as to the first uses of the fuel for cooking purposes, or of the owner of the first gas range.

In response to an advertisement seeking information as to the pioneer owner of this type of stove scores of older residents have come forth with the information that they were among the first purchasers of gas ranges in this city, but only one—Mrs. Stocker—has laid definite claim to the distinction of being the first person in Atlanta to apply gas to cooking.

This claim is given substantiation by reminiscences of her daughter, Mrs. Channing S. Smith, at whose home Mrs. Stocker now lives, of the widespread interest and curiosity the appearance of the first gas range excited among Atlantans generally, who flocked to the Stocker home to view the new stove.

Mrs. Stocker, who is 85 years of age, clearly remembers the installation, physical peculiarities and general behavior of the first stove and declares that the second range of the gas type to make its appearance in Atlanta was bought by Thomas Castlebury, former Atlanta furniture dealer.

This was in 1879 or 1880, Mrs. Stocker recalls. At that time she and her husband, who was in the furniture business with Mr. Castlebury, lived on Whitehall street which, along with Peters street, was one of the most elite residential sections of the city.

Mrs. Stocker, her daughter asserted, had won wide recognition in this section of Georgia as a progressive housekeeper and cook, along with a number of awards for culinary and domestic art, and at all times was ready to embrace what at that time was considered a venturesome "unfangled" idea. Thus it was that in looking through the advertisements of an out-of-town periodical her attention was arrested by a special "ad" depicting and setting forth the merits of the then new gas range, which was manufactured by a Baltimore firm.

It was the time of the year approaching the fruit-preserving season, she recalls, and as she was accustomed to putting away large quantities of preserved fruits each year she decided to attempt to avoid the heat and bother of the old-fashioned wood stove by making a venture into the mysteries of cooking by gas. No one in Atlanta had ever done it before, but neither had anyone here ever embraced the idea of placing fine wire screens in windows of the homes as Mrs. Stocker had done, she says.

So she instructed the Baltimore firm to ship the range advertised—a quaint contraption as compared to the present-day white enamel models—and had it installed, to the edification of the city generally.

Her daughter herself can recall the thrill of being allowed to "light the burners" on the old gas range, as she does the various people who called during the day and in the evenings to view the device. She remembers it as a somber black cast-iron affair for the most part, with three large burners and one "coffee jet" on top, and with an oven beneath.

The first gas stove, however, did not suit Mrs. Stocker's progressive ideas and soon she replaced it with a newer model, year by year keeping up with the changing trends of types and appliances. In the shifting of time and changing of methods Atlanta's first gas stove—which now would almost amount to a museum piece—was lost to posterity; and no record is to be found of that owned by Mr. Castlebury, whose relatives no longer live in Atlanta.

Today the Atlanta Gas Light Company is endeavoring to discover whether other original "first" gas ranges are still in existence and have placed a bounty of $50 in gold for the oldest gas stove still in service.

Workshop Presents Plays Tuesday Night

Three original one-act plays by members of the Drama Workshop will be presented by them Tuesday night at Eggleston Memorial hall in its second play bill of the season, under the auspices of St. Mary's Guild of St. Philip's cathedral.

The cast of "Moonshine," by Emily Vandiver Ramage, includes Belle Ward Stowe, John Wesley Weekes, Tommy Whitefield, Mary Louise Thomas, Julius McCurdy and Edward Ramage. "Heart Trouble," by Louise Goldthorpe, has Janet Shaw, William Wilkerson and Frances K. Gooch in the cast. In "The Poor Farm," by Frances Freshorn, the members of the cast include the author and Mary King, Katherine Crawley, Harvey Camp, J. S. King, and Andrew Shields.

Miss Gooch is directing "Moonshine" and "Heart Trouble." Mrs. Crawley is directing "The Poor Farm."

Leaders of the tour plan to stage group Spanish classes en route to Havana and it is expected that by the time the party reaches Cuba members will be able to select articles of food with ease, shop in Havana to advantage and thoroughly enjoy their stay in the island republic.

Business executives and others interested in Cuban trade are invited by the club to make inquiry concerning the tour. According to the secretary, William Allan Dunlap, nearly 150 applications had been received up to Friday night and others were expected during the few remaining days before reservations are closed. The party will be limited to 200 persons and will consist of representative Georgians and Floridians. To date nearly 20 cities are represented among those registered for the tour.

Full information may be obtained at the offices of the tour directors, John T. North, 68 North Broad street, adapted to the needs of the tourist, as it contains parallel words and phrases in both English and Spanish, such as the average person would use in trying to get around in a strange country.

More than 1,500 scientists from this and other countries, including delegations from the society's 70 local sections located in industrial centers throughout the country, will attend. Five hundred papers and addresses outlining world progress in chemical science will be delivered by leading educators, industrialists and research workers from the laboratories of the universities and technical schools and the industries.

General meetings will be held at the Biltmore hotel, where registration opens Monday, April 7, at 9 a. m. The opening event will be a session of the council on Monday afternoon, when plans to meet the expanding activities of the society, now with more than 17,000 members, the largest professional organization of its kind in the world, will be discussed. The president of the society, Professor William McPherson, of Ohio State University, will preside.

1,500 To Attend Chemical Body's Convention Here

Chemistry's advance in the south will be a dominant theme at the 79th meeting of the American Chemical Society, which will be held in Atlanta April 7-11.

More than 1,500 scientists from this and other countries, including delegations from the society's 70 local sections located in industrial centers throughout the country, will attend. Five hundred papers and addresses outlining world progress in chemical science will be delivered by leading educators, industrialists and research workers from the laboratories of the universities and technical schools and the industries.

General meetings will be held at the Biltmore hotel, where registration opens Monday, April 7, at 9 a. m. The opening event will be a session of the council on Monday afternoon, when plans to meet the expanding activities of the society, now with more than 17,000 members, the largest professional organization of its kind in the world, will be discussed. The president of the society, Professor William McPherson, of Ohio State University, will preside.

The most pressing need of organized chemistry, according to Dr. Charles L. Parsons, of Washington, who will submit his annual report as secretary, is an endowment of several millions of dollars to finance the society's publications. Dr. Parsons, one of America's most widely known chemists, was raised in Hawkinsville, Ga., where he received his early education, and where he still maintains his legal residence.

Scientific and industrial research is developing so rapidly, it is declared, that the income of the society is no longer sufficient in itself to record it.

To keep American science and industry abreast of knowledge in chemistry, the society has developed a reporting system, centering at Ohio State University, which covers the world's entire chemical literature, and the results of which are embodied in a publication called "Chemical Abstracts." The number of periodicals from which digests are made for American use now exceeds $1,500.

Lions Club Will Hear General George Estes

Brigadier General George H. Estes, commander of the eighth infantry brigade at Fort McPherson, will be the principal speaker at the Lions Club luncheon at the Henry Grady hotel at 12:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

General Estes will speak on "Forto Rico," a place with which he is thoroughly familiar due to his assignments there. He is one of the best-known speakers in Georgia and enjoys a large following.

His travels have been wide and varied and his address at the luncheon Tuesday will be from first-hand knowledge of the subject on which he will speak. He enjoyed many varied assignments since his entry in the service in 1884.

Music Club Will Sponsor Series of Concerts Here

Campaign for Members Assured of Reaching Goal of 3,000, Officials State.

The Atlanta Music Club again will sponsor the Civic Music Association in a series of concerts during 1930-31, according to Mrs. Wilmer L. Moore, president of the Music Club, and Eugene R. Black, president of the Civic Music Association. With the impetus of the financial and artistic success of the first concert series, the second campaign for members assured of reaching the goal of 3,000 members, it was said. Subscriptions of $1,000 already have been made.

The annual week's campaign opens at 9 o'clock Monday morning at the club headquarters, located at the Phillips & Crew Piano Company, 235 Peachtree street. Wade A. French, vice president of the National Civic Concert Service, of Chicago, and Mrs. Ruth Swarthout, of Chicago, arrived Saturday to direct the activities of the week. Mrs. Swarthout will appear before clubs, institutions and organizations during the week, setting forth the plan for next year. Campaign headquarters will be open daily from 9 o'clock in the morning until 6 in the afternoon, except on the final day, when the close comes at 10 o'clock Saturday night.

The membership is $5. A junior membership for $2.50 is offered to all students of both public and private schools who have not passed their eighteenth birthday. Membership card entitles holder admittance to all civic concerts, all meetings of the Atlanta Music Club, the use of the musical library at headquarters, and also to any concert in any city of the United States where the series is presented by the Civic Concert Service. Membership cards are transferable. No memberships will be sold after the closing of the campaign on Saturday, and there will be no tickets sold for single concerts.

The Atlanta Music Club in sponsoring the Civic Concert Service can give a greater series of concerts because of the co-operative plan under which Miss Dena E. Harshbarger, president of the "Service," operates, it was said. For the 1930-31 season, with the enlarged budget, there is promise of the greatest list of concerts ever presented. Mrs. De Los L. Hill, chairman of the talent committee, announcing that it is planned to bring one of the world-famed symphony orchestras as a special feature of the year.

The Atlanta Civic Music Association and Music Club have the endorsement of the senior, the junior and the woman's divisions of the chamber of commerce, the Atlanta P. T. A., the City Federation of Women's Clubs, Atlanta Woman's Club, Atlanta M.

STOCK FIRM WINS CASE AGAINST ATHENS BANK

First National Loses $150,000 Suit to Orvis Bros. & Co.

A jury in the New York city supreme court returned a verdict today against the National Bank of Athens, Ga., and in favor of Orvis Brothers & Co. in a suit brought by the National Bank of Athens to recover $150,000 alleged to have been lost between 1922 and 1926 through Orvis Brothers & Co. by Graves F. Stephenson, formerly assistant cashier of the National Bank of Athens, and who is at present engaged in serving a 10-year sentence in the federal penitentiary at Atlanta for having embezzled a large sum of money from the National Bank of Athens.

The National Bank of Athens claimed in its law suit that Orvis Brothers & Co. should have known that an account camouflaged in the name of M. M. Stephenson belonged in fact to Graves F. Stephenson, the assistant cashier of the bank. However, the jury exonerated Orvis Brothers & Co. in all respects.

John B. Gamble, of Athens, Ga., was associate counsel for Orvis Brothers & Co. and Max Michael, of Athens, was associate counsel for the bank. The case was tried by Jerome Michigan Bank of Athens. Phelan Beale tried the case for Orvis Brothers & Co. The case excited considerable interest among the cotton and stock exchange houses of this city.

Bids for concession rights at the new Atlanta city hall were opened Saturday and a recommendation will be ready for action of council Monday. It was announced Saturday by Councilman George Lyle, chairman of the buildings and grounds committee, that body.

They were rejected at the last session of council, and an order was given that the stand be re-advertised.

Demolition of the antiquated Forsyth street viaduct will be begun in earnest Monday, it was announced Saturday by Alexander MacDougald, president of the MacDougald Construction Company, contractors charged with rebuilding the northern section of the bridge.

At the same time C. E. Kauffmann, engineer of bridges for the borough of Atlanta, declared Saturday that

Forsyth Street Viaduct Repair Work Pushed

Plans and specifications for reconstruction of the south span of the structure are ready for distribution to bidders and that the present program calls for actual letting of the contract for that portion of the work at the meeting of council March 14.

The Forsyth street bridge was constructed in 1891, and is one of the oldest in Atlanta. It has long since outlived its usefulness.

The northern sections are being rebuilt by the N. C. & St. L. railway to conform to plans for a large plaza which will admit vehicular and pedestrian traffic to the new Union station, now nearing completion just west of the Forsyth street bridge.

Funds for the work to be done on the south span will be furnished by Atlanta and Fulton county, each of the governments having agreed to contribute $30,000 to the improvement.

Allen Congratulated Past President of Atlanta Chamber Has Birthday.

Ivan Allen, past president of the Chamber of Commerce and executive committee of the Forward Atlanta Commission, was receiving congratulations Saturday on the occasion of his birthday. He was born in Dalton "sometime in the '70s" and is known over the state for his book, "Atlanta From the Ashes," hundreds of copies of which have been distributed to industrial leaders in all parts of the country.

SUNDAY NEWSPAPERS GAIN RECOGNITION

Recognition that Sunday newspapers stand in the front rank as advertising media for institutional campaigns is contained in the Harvard advertising awards of 1929, just announced.

The awards are made by a jury of business and advertising men selected by Harvard University under a foundation created by the late Edward W. Bok. The outstanding institutional advertising campaign for 1929, in the judgment of the jury, was that of the Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Company, which ran in Sunday newspapers throughout the country and was prepared by Fuller & Smith, advertising agency, of Cleveland. This is the first time that a national institutional campaign using newspapers predominantly has received an award, and, incidentally, is the first time that an award for such a campaign has been won by a mid-western advertising agency.

The Westinghouse advertisements ran mainly in full pages and were designed to interpret the activities of the Westinghouse company in the varied fields of industry, domestic economy and public service. They were illustrated by C. Peter Helck, New York artist.

Forsyth Viaduct Cars Re-routed By Power Co.

Rebuilding of the Forsyth street viaduct in connection with erection of the new Union station will necessitate the re-routing of five street car lines now traversing the viaduct, it was announced Saturday by the Georgia Power Company. The lines affected are the Ponce de Leon-Walker West View, Luckie street-Grant street-Grant park, McDaniel street, Magnolia street and West Fair street routes. The changes in routing will become effective Monday and continue in effect until completion of work on the viaduct.

During that interval the following routes will be traversed by the lines affected:

Ponce de Leon-Walker West View cars northbound will operate on Mitchell to Broad to Marietta to Forsyth streets and thence on their regular route, while southbound cars will be routed from Forsyth to Walton to Broad to Mitchell streets and thence on their regular route.

Luckie street-Grant street-Grant park cars northbound will operate on Hunter to Broad to Marietta to Forsyth streets and thence on their usual route, while southbound cars will traverse Forsyth to Walton to Broad to Hunter.

McDaniel street cars will be routed Forsyth to Alabama to Broad to Mitchell and Forsyth streets and thence on their regular route.

Magnolia street cars will be run on Forsyth, Alabama, Broad and Mitchell streets, thence over the usual route.

Big Year Predicted For Hubig Fruit Pies

Twenty-three million pies! Some statistical genius might enjoy figuring out just how high 23,000,000 pies would measure if stacked one on another—probably almost as high as the oft statistically mentioned Washington monument. Or, how far 23,000,000 pies would reach if laid edge to edge—as they say in Texas, they'd probably reach "a fur piece."

However, according to Windsor Jones, recently elected president of the Simon Hubig Company, bakers of Hubig's honey-fruit pies, his institution has, for several years, baked more than 23,000,000 pies annually. Mr. Jones says that judging from the present outlook, his concern will bake and sell more pies this year than in any previous year in its history.

J. H. Davidson is manager of the plant, which carries 21 employees now on the payroll and supplies more than 600 grocers and food dealers daily in the city of Atlanta with fresh Hubig's honey-fruit pies.

History of Probe Reveals Tenacity of Graft Jurors

Two of Four Questions Asked in Constitution's November Editorial Answered.

"What Says the Grand Jury?"
"What Says the Constitution?"
"What Says the Council?"
"What Says the City?"

On the morning of the 20th of November last year The Constitution in its "lead" editorial asked these four questions, which concluded a column-long resume of reports of rumors and sub rosa charges, which had been hurled back and forth for many months and which two days previously had broken onto the floor of the city council.

"What Says the Grand Jury?" was the first question asked.

The grand jury met the following Friday afternoon in its regular semi-weekly session. By that time its foreman, Thomas J. Lyon, had met with a number of outstanding citizens, had heard their views and had communicated them to Solicitor-General John A. Boykin. On that Friday the most gigantic investigation ever undertaken by a Georgia inquisitorial body was launched.

Mr. Boykin and his chief aide, Assistant Solicitor Ed A. Stephens, busied themselves for days and nights rounding up witnesses who had been reported as having knowledge of the alleged illegal deals of the city council and the heads and employees of the various municipal departments.

Witnesses on Hand.
Between that Friday and the following Tuesday when the first testimony was heard, more than a score of witnesses were on hand when the grand jury finished the routine business scheduled for it during the day.

From those witnesses the grand jury got its first real evidence of graft and corruption and alleged underhanded tactics which developed the investigation overnight into the monster undertaking that it now has proven to be. Day after day, week after week the mill ground on. Witnesses after witness was summoned, rich men, poor men, beggars and some who were being called thieves were summoned behind the locked doors of the paneled third floor room in the courthouse where the history of Atlanta was undergoing perhaps one of its greatest changes.

Each witness who could shed any light whatever on the alleged corruption added the names of others who

he said, probably could tell something interesting and the mass of evidence grew until instead of scores the witnesses were summoned by the hundred and instead of holding semi-weekly sessions the grand jury went into almost daily session and the meetings often numbered two and three a day and ran far into the night.

Kept at Task.
So great was the undertaking that early in December Mr. Lyon and his fellow grand jurors foresaw that they would be unable to complete the investigation, that probably the grand jury that was to succeed them with the coming of the new year likely would be unable to finish the job. But the November grand jury kept at its task and working almost every day and two or three nights a week it amassed hundreds of pages of evidence, hundreds of sworn statements and developed "leads" that it said revealed the city in the grip of an organized gang of political grafters that likened Atlanta to New York in the dark days of Tweed and other American cities that had been milked dry of the public by the hand of the unscrupulous politician.

On January 1 the grand jury's presentations were unheeded. The city rocked as its inhabitants read the amazing charges preferred by the official investigators. That such a thing could exist added to the amazement. In its presentations the grand jury recommended the organization of a citizens' committee to sponsor the investigation and to obtain for it the financial support necessary. Quietly some of the city's leading citizens went about the business of organizing the committee, and a few days later nearly 100 representatives of nearly every walk of life met at a secretly planned dinner and organized the committee. Walter McElreath, well-known lawyer and former member of the legislature, was elected chairman of the group, and Edgar Watkins, Jr., the secretary.

Executive Board Named.
The committee voted to select an executive board to conduct its affairs and within a week selected 10 men and women, high in the social and business life of Atlanta, to serve on that board. H. Y. McCord, Sr., capitalist, was chosen chairman of the board.

Meanwhile the January grand jury had been indicted into office, and under the direction of Solicitor-General Boykin and W. Rawson Collier, whom it had elected foreman, that body immediately set at the task of carrying on the investigation. Daily sessions were begun almost immediately after the January jury took office and within a week they were meeting each day and each night.

As the November grand jury reported, the January grand jury, through its spokesman, Mr. Collier, declared it had learned that the situation "was as bad as it could be, and painted." Mr. Collier joined Solicitor-General Boykin in a plea for support for the citizens' committee in its campaign to raise funds for the continuance of the inquiry and for widening its scope to such an extent that funds were made available for the employment of special investigators, additional counsel and whoever might be needed.

Court Action To Recover Sums "Grafted" Planned

The committee reported a widespread response at once with the subscriptions totaling more than $5,000 in the first four or five days, with one man, a business leader, donating $1,000 to the cause.

With this fund available the grand jury summoned a number of out-of-town witnesses and called in hundreds of Atlanta residents who were able to furnish data to aid the investigation. A call for volunteer information went forward and soon the city court house was ready to tell what they knew.

Through January and February the grand jury worked on. Day and night its members were at the courthouse. Hundreds of witnesses were heard and though no total was kept attaches of the solicitor-general's office estimated that by the time the first indictment was returned, more than 2,000 witnesses had been called to the courthouse, though some of these were not permitted to testify as it was learned that they sought merely to air personal grievances and were not able to add anything concrete to the evidence already assembled.

As early as 10 days ago The Constitution learned that the first indictment was to be returned by the January grand jury before it retired and a week ago Saturday official announcement of the forthcoming true bills was made by Mr. Boykin.

"Two of the most memorable editorials' questions have been answered by the actions today," Solicitor-General Boykin said Saturday night. "The grand jury and the solicitor-general have filed their answers, at least a part of them, for there is undoubtedly much more to come."

Florida Plans Aid For Schools of State

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., March 1.—(AP)—The department of public instruction will distribute $742,957.99 to the common schools of Florida early next week, it was announced here today.

The distribution will be the first of monthly apportionments to be made from now until further notice to alleviate financial stress said to exist among the school systems of a number of counties.

Monthly apportionments of the common school fund were decided upon recently by the state board of education after the board had received urgent requests for money from several county school boards.

Next week's apportionment, constituting funds accumulating since the last quarterly distribution was made, will be as follows:
One-half school tax, $80,950.52; interest on the school fund, $55,321.75; 1-cent gas tax, $424,553.72; one-fourth of 1-mill tax, $19,741.56; interest on the state fund in bonds, $13,639.25; and the balance from funds of the public free school fund left from the last distribution, $1,209.51.

Court Action To Recover Sums "Grafted" Planned

Court action to recover sums reported paid to alleged grafting members of the city council and heads of various municipal departments will follow any convictions obtained under the indictments returned by the Fulton grand jury, it was said Saturday night.

An opportunity will be given the council itself and the city attorney, James L. Mayson, to file suits for the recovery of sums reported paid to the grafting members of the council and heads of various municipal departments and department heads have been disposed of, it was said.

"I have no doubt but that the graft money can be recovered," Chairman Walter McElreath, of the citizens' committee, said Saturday night. "If the city council or city attorney does not move to return it to the public treasury whence it is alleged it was stolen, the citizens' committee will take action or the suits will be instituted by individuals."

Solicitor-General John A. Boykin said Saturday night. "The grand jury and the solicitor-general have filed their answers, at least a part of them, for there is undoubtedly much more to come."

SOUTHERN ILLINOIS PLANS TO CURB GANGS

GRANITE CITY, Ill., March 1.—(AP)—The spectre of gangster rule has flared up again in southern Illinois, once the domain of Charlie Birger and the Shelton brothers.

This time the outbreak is in Madison county, in the St. Louis district, and citizens are preparing to nip it.

Incensed by the recent kidnapping for ransom of one of their most prominent businessmen, 300 citizens of Granite City held an indignation meeting last night, talked over the gang situation, and planned to act.

The meeting, sponsored by a group of businessmen, was told that the county is overrun by gangsters and hoodlums who have established headquarters and have taken certain business interests into partnership in extortion activities and other crime.

The immediate cause of the meeting was abduction last week of Charles W. Pershall, banker and chain grocer, whose family was forced to pay $40,000 ransom for his release. There have been four other abductions in the St. Louis district in recent months.

The meeting authorized appointment of a committee to bring out and support an independent candidate for sheriff at the April 8 primary as the first move.

Investigator Held As Bribe-Taker

CHICAGO, March 1.—(AP)—Richard J. Proud, for seven years chief of the conspiracy investigation section of the local prohibition office, was held today in $10,000 bonds for hearing March 5 on charges of accepting bribes and abstracting government records. Two Milwaukee men will be tried on charges of conspiracy in the case.

Proud and the two others, Samuel Pokrass, owner of the Uptown Investment Company of Milwaukee, and Joseph Labor, said to be Pokrass' bodyguard, were arrested last night in the Chicago & Northwestern railroad station restaurant by special Washington investigators, who said they caught Proud transferring reports of evidence in a Milwaukee prohibition case.

Humans Select Inferior Foods, Chemist Claims

COLUMBUS, Ohio, March 1.—(UN)—Animals may rely upon instinct to select proper nourishment but not humans, avers Dr. John F. Lyman, professor of agricultural chemistry at Ohio State University.

The animal has the advantage because ordinarily it has the selection of only two foods, one good and the other injurious, while man may choose any of several, he says. And repeatedly man picks the wrong kind.

"A fallacy," Professor Lyman continues, "is the belief that our federal and state food laws insure good nutrition without any co-operation from the consumer. These laws protect from the fraud of mislabeling and from the use of adulterants, but beyond that they do not guarantee food values."

People continue to err, Dr. Lyman points out, in believing that costs and food values are correlated. A dime spent for milk is a wiser purchase than a dollar spent for mushrooms, even though they be not tooadstools, he observes.

The road to good health, according to Dr. Lyman's specifications, is paved with the following materials to be used daily:

A pint of milk; fresh fruit equal to an apple or orange; abundance of vegetables, especially of the cabbage, lettuce and spinach variety;

moderate amounts only of white "fried" foods; and sufficient other foods to dull the appetite and adorn the bread, sugar, lard and other "puri" such as meat, cereals, fats and bread meal.

convicts a public official of embezzling or illegally obtaining city funds the money is recoverable, though that matter is out of my jurisdiction," Mr. Boykin said. "It has been recovered in other places and I think it can be done here."

Mr. Boykin and Mr. Howard cited the case of former Governor T. Len Small, of Illinois, who was tried for alleged misappropriation of state funds while he was state treasurer and though acquitted on the criminal charge later lost a civil action over the alleged embezzled funds and was forced to return several millions of dollars to the state treasury.

Small Case Similar.

HEATED COMMISSION RACES ARE FORECAST

Political Lines Are Drawn Tighter as Date of Primary Draws Nearer.

BY HERMAN D. HANCOCK.
With the primary for selection of three Fulton county commissioners only 17 days hence, camps of opponents Saturday laid plans for an aggressive campaign and drew their lines tighter. Heated races are forecast.

Incumbents, Dr. William Gilbert, Paul S. Elderfield and Walter Hendrix, are opposed for re-election by Dr. Dan Griffith, Nelson Spratt and Alex A. Whitely.

Thomas G. King, prominent real estate operator of College Park, has been selected to handle the campaign of Commissioner Hendrix. It was announced Saturday, Mr. King has opened the Hendrix headquarters at 636 Piedmont hotel.

A rally in the interests of incumbents is planned for Wednesday night in Cook's district. Puckett's hall, 1099 Howell Mill road.

At the same time, the Griffith-Spratt-Whitley campaign committee announced that headquarters have been opened in several of the wards inside the city and declared that plans for carrying the fight directly to the people in all sections of the county are being perfected.

The Griffith-Spratt-Whitley campaign committee stated Saturday that several ward committees had been formed in the interest of the ticket and ward headquarters established in the third, fifth, seventh, eighth, tenth and eleventh wards.

Third ward headquarters were opened last week at 517 Boulevard, S. E., with A. L. Oslin, J. T. Davis and E. N. Hendrix as chairmen of the ward's division. Fifth and eighth ward headquarters are located near the corner of Hemphill and Tenth streets, with Ed Rosier and Mrs. E. E. Lyons in charge. Seventh ward headquarters are located at 810 Gordon street, with Colonel Wimberly, Mrs. Jessie Manry, Mrs. L. M. Adams, C. T. Camp and J. H. Merritt in charge. Tenth ward club is headed by Clyde Curran, and the women's division by Mrs. Roberts. Eleventh ward headquarters are located at the Stovall Street Pharmacy, with Press Winburn in charge.

Several other clubs over the city and county have been formed, and the campaign committee announces that ward meetings in the third fifth and seventh will be held next week at which time all three candidates will present their campaigns directly to the people.

Ohio Debating Team Will Meet
Emory Monday

Champions of two sectional leagues will meet here Monday night when debaters representing Wittenberg college, Springfield, Ohio, for the past three years champions of the Ohio Debating League, and Emory University, the 1928-29 champions of the Dixie Debating League, engage in a forensic contest. The local speakers will be depicting the present extent of modern advertising and the visitors will take the negative side of the controversy.

Harlee Branch, Jr., and Frank Duncan, law students, will speak for Emory.

Wittenberg, although a small college, has been consistently a winner in debating activities over a long period. In 1923 the forensic activities at the Ohio institution attracted widespread attention through an article in the American Magazine in which Wittenberg speakers were named the world champions in debate.

Rucknoll, Purdue, Michigan University of Colorado, Southern California, Oxford, Cambridge and Sidney, Australia, are among last year's victims of the Wittenberg. Emory has matched record with victories over Harvard, Princeton, Tulane and South Carolina.

Health Official Shocks Devotees Of 'Spring Fever'

When the birds sing, the flowers bloom and you feel a strong urge to quit work and go fishing, you may think you have spring fever—but you haven't.

Dr. M. E. Winchester, of the state board of health, says so. Further, he says there is no such thing as spring fever. "It's entirely a mental thing—this spring fever business," Dr. Winchester says. "The facts are that there is no physiological basis for it. It's a tradition, or something, that went out with hoop skirts and molasses-sulphur tonic, neither of which did anyone much good—except mentally."

"The reason people want to go out into the woods on balmy spring days is because the woods are attractive to the eye, the ear, the nose and the sense of feeling. The trees are green, the flowers are sweet, the birds sing joyously, and the sun is warm and comfortable. Seeing nature in robust health and abloom in all its glory, the desire naturally comes to us to try to make our own lives bloom with vigor. That's where the spring tonic lies started."

But modern science now stresses the need of keeping fit 365 days in the year. There is no reason why one should wait until spring. A good idea is to have your family physician examine you every time your birthday rolls around. But if you insist on taking what is called a 'spring tonic,' go to your family physician now, let him examine you, and if you need a tonic he will prescribe one to meet your own, individual case.

"But as for spring fever, there's nothing to it."

Byck Brothers To Open Peachtree Salon Monday

Byck Brothers Company will formally open its new Peachtree shoe salon at 207 Peachtree street, N. E., Monday morning, it is announced by Werner S. Byck, president, and John C. Sage, secretary and treasurer of the company.

Establishment of the additional store comes as the result of a constantly increasing volume of business, according to the officers of the company, and they consider that in the new location the company will be in a position to gain still more recognition.

Although no elaborate program has been arranged for the occasion the general public is cordially invited to visit the new salon between the hours of 10 a. m. and 6 p. m. Presentation of the newest spring and summer footwear, bags and hosiery, along with the salon's arrangement and decorative scheme for the public's approval will feature the day's program.

The new salon will house complete departments for women's shoes, hosiery and bags, also children's shoes and hosiery. Exquisitely furnished throughout, the salon will be one of the most attractive and best arranged establishments of its kind in the entire south. Its display windows are admirably adapted to present their contents to the public, being spacious, beautifully lighted and decorated with bird's eye maple panelling inlaid with black American walnut as a background.

The front of the salon will be used for hosiery display, just beyond this department is the fitting salon which will be lighted through the use of concealed lights, in addition to large crystal chandeliers. The fitting salon is the stockroom and stairs leading to the balcony, also foyer to smoking and rest room and elevator.

The balcony floor will be used for the children's department which may be reached by elevator or stairs. Special cabinets for the display of styles are located along the sides of the salon. Within the salon is fitted with especially designed equipment of American walnut inlay with bird's eye maple panelling. The walls above the panelling are decorated with mirrors and designs of modernistic patterns.

Comfortable seats, lounging divans and a special smoking and rest room adds to the welcome atmosphere that would cause one to be at perfect ease while shopping in the salon.

The new salon more than doubles the floor space of the Byck Brothers Shoe Company. The Whitehall street store and the new Peachtree salon give the company a total floor space of 5,000 square feet.

The original Byck shoe store was established in Atlanta in 1893 by Werner S. Byck and his two brothers, C. S. Byck and L. S. Byck, at 61 Whitehall street, S. W., which today it still occupies and maintains as its main store.

The business was incorporated in 1915 when John C. Sage, Clarence E. Gibbs, and Walter J. Davis became stockholders and directors of the company, in addition to Werner S. Byck and L. S. Byck. The officials of the company have followed closely the business policies set down by Werner S. Byck, the founder of the original company, who is still the president, and has been a resident of Atlanta since 1893. This policy in detail is honesty, quality, courtesy, fair dealings and convenient credit. To that is accredited the tremendous success enjoyed for so many years at the Whitehall street store.

The company announces that Clarence E. Gibbs, will be manager for the new store and states that patrons of the new salon will be accorded the same credit privileges as have been in effect at the Whitehall street store, and are cordially invited to take advantage of this feature.

William Green, American Labor
Head, Here Today

Continuing a series of speeches opening the southwide organization campaign of the American Federation of Labor, William Green, president of that organization, will arrive in Atlanta this morning and at 2 o'clock this afternoon will speak to the public at the Paramount theater.

The organization, Mr. Green has announced, expects to spend a million dollars in an effort to unionize the cotton workers in the south. He will discuss the campaign which will be waged in every principal city of the south in connection with a speech tracing the history of the American labor movement, its aims and achievements.

A. Steve Nance, president of the Atlanta Federation of Trades, will preside. Musical features of the program will be furnished by the Atlanta Federation of Musicians' orchestra, conducted by Enrico Leide, and the male quartet of the Brotherhood of Electrical Workers will also appear in several selections.

It is because the temperature in your oven is not stabilized by mechanical control.

For without mechanical control the success of your baking is wholly dependent upon the manner in which the oven responds to your watchful adjusting and maneuvering of the burner valve, which at best is only a gamble.

Of course, your range will bake at temperatures ranging from 212 to 512 degrees but in that variation of 300 degrees there is only one point where it will bake best.

Suppose an experienced sailor was to start for Paris with only general directions as his guide. He might land anywhere between London and Venice but he has learned that he can reach any definite point of unlimited distance by the use of modern instruments, just as you can always reach that certain required oven temperature that effects rich brown and delicious savor to your cooking by the use of an accurate mechanical instrument on your gas range. That indispensable instrument is the Garland Oven Heat Control that will guide your baking to success without mishaps, failure or disappointments in your cooking.

The fact that certain persons whose names have been mentioned rather freely during the first four months of the investigation were not indicted Saturday does not mean that they are to escape trial, Mr. Boykin said.

"The public does not have the faintest conception of the amount of work already done over by the grand jury," Mr. Boykin said. "There are several departments we have not yet touched on. I am sorry that we still are not able to single out all of the guilty from the many who are honest and upright and by all means not guilty. They will have to bear with us and patiently await the conclusion which we will bring about with the least possible delay."

TAYLOR INDICTED ON BRIBERY COUNTS.

Count one alleges that on December 7, 1925, he unlawfully offered to give and did give to A. G. Allen, a legally qualified councilman of the city of Atlanta, a municipal corporation, four hundred dollars in money ($400) as a present and a reward given by the accused to the said councilman to influence the behavior of the said councilman in the matter of a petition from the Georgia Railway and Power Company for permission to abandon street car service and take up street car tracks on Central avenue, Dodd avenue, Bass street, Pulliam street and Ormond street.

Count two alleges that on May 4, 1925, he gave to the said sum of $100 as a present and reward to influence the behavior of the said councilman in the matter of awarding contracts for paving of Capitol avenue.

Count three alleges that on March 5, 1925, Taylor "did unlawfully receive of and from A. P. Calhoun the sum of two hundred dollars and fifty cents ($250) in money as a present and reward given by the said Calhoun to influence the official behavior of said accused in the matter of a resolution that was introduced in and was pending before the general council of the city of Atlanta to the effect that the Georgia Railway and Power Company be and it be hereby requested to amend the charter of the city of Atlanta whereby the city shall be authorized to prohibit the maintenance of billiard, pool and baggule tables, for hire, in said city, or for playing for which a charge is made," the said Taylor being then and there clerk of council of the city of Atlanta, and as such being in a position of confidence, trust and clerkship in said general council.

$200 Accepted, Charge.

Count four alleges the receipt by Taylor of $200 from Calhoun "to influence the official behavior of said accused in the matter of a proposed ordinance which was introduced and was pending before the general council of the city of Atlanta" regulating the issuance of licenses to billiard and pool rooms.

Count five charges that Taylor gave J. Count nine charges that on April 20, 1928, he attempted to become unlawfully and corruptly interested in a contract with N. B. Levy, trading as the Southern Sanitary Company, for the purchase of nine separate orders of insecticides ranging from 35 gallons to 2 drums at a price of $2.50 per gallon.

Purchase of Insecticides.

Count ten charges that on March 5, 1929, he attempted to become unlawfully and corruptly interested in a certain contract with the Puritan Chemical Company for the purchase of insecticides and other supplies. No amount is specified.

Count eleven charges that on April 10, 1928, he attempted to become unlawfully and corruptly interested in a contract with the Nillate Manufacturing Company for the purchase of soap, cleaning materials and other supplies. No amount is specified.

Witnesses named are Hugh Richardson, Carl Dinkler, C. A. Pittman, F. A. Pittman, H. R. Wagar, N. B. Levy, A. L. Feldman, E. S. Morris, S. Selig, R. J. Donaldson and W. H. Alexander.

SAUNDERS INDICTED ON BRIBERY CHARGE.

A second separate indictment charges Harry York, councilman, with attempting on July 15, 1929, to become unlawfully and corruptly interested in a contract with the Atlanta Kiesel Company. The indictment specifically charges him with trying to get R. J. Donaldson, representative of the city of the new city hall site at Washington and Mitchell streets.

The indictment alleges that Taylor obtained advance information, by virtue of his position of confidence and trust, as to the fact that the new city hall would be located on the property at the southwest corner of Washington and Mitchell streets, and by reason of this advance information entered into an agreement and conspiracy with Fred Wilson and Richard C. Shoup, the purpose being the obtaining of options on various parcels of land which would make up the site and location of the new city hall, and an agreement to divide the profits between Taylor, Wilson and Shoup.

In pursuance of the agreement, the indictment charges, Shoup obtained from J. B. Wright and his agent, Ward Wright, an agreement to accept $48,000 for fee simple title to the property then owned by J. B. Wright at the southwest corner of Washington and Mitchell streets, the frontage being 99.0 feet by 82.5 feet, and electrical fixtures valued at $25,000.

Then, according to the charges in the indictment, the accused caused the property to be offered to the city at $53,000, the fact of the offering being made through Shoup as holder of an option from J. B. Wright. The indictment charges that the accused concealed the fact that the offerer was willing to sell for $48,000 and that Taylor was financially interested in the transaction and was to share in the $5,000 that the city was to pay over and above the $48,000 the owner was willing to accept.

The accused are charged in the indictment with getting and obtaining for themselves $5,000 of the money paid by the city for the property by getting the amount from Ward Wright as agent for J. B. Wright on the matter of the sale of the property. The bill alleges that in the transaction it was to the interest of the city and public and citizens to obtain the property at the lowest possible price and that Taylor, though in a position of public trust and confidence, renounced the interest of the city and people and worked against the interest of the city and people, and instead worked to his own private and selfish interest.

Witnesses listed on the Taylor and Wilson indictment are: J. B. Wright, Ward Wright, the Atlanta Title and Trust Company, under duces tecum, and R. Graham West, city engineer, under duces tecum. The date of the alleged offense is given as August 26, 1927.

W. P. Price, city purchasing agent, Harry York, councilman, and Jack White, the latter's associate in business, are charged in one bill with "using deceitful means and artful practices to defraud the city by selling out of the sum of $1,222.50, a misdemeanor."

The indictment of the three sets out that Price was purchasing agent and that his duty and responsibility was "to secure prices for all supplies of every kind and character required by the various departments of said city and to inspect the same and see that they are what they are represented to be and that the prices of same are the best that can be obtained in the local market (city of Atlanta) or elsewhere."

It then specifically says that from April 20, 1928, to September 21, 1929, Price entered into an unlawful conspiracy with Harry York and Jack White to defraud the city, in that Price placed orders for 155 gallons of insecticide with N. B. Levy, doing business under the trade name of the Southern Sanitary Company, such orders being for "Fly-Gon," "Gly-Gon Spray," and "Le-Sanox Fly Gon," chemical compounds of pyrethrum and oils, at a price of $2.50 per gallon "when in truth and in fact" these insecticides were worth only $1 per gallon as a market price in large quantities. It is charged by the grand jury that the same insecticides were sold to Fulton county, in quantities similar to the quantities sold to the city, at $1 per gallon and to other customers.

Rebating Is Charged.

Price approved the bill, the grand jury charges, at $2.50 and the plan by which the trio profited was that the Southern Sanitary Company issued rebate checks signed by N. B. Levy payable to Jack White.

Count Two in the same bill of indictment charges that Price, York and White, on September 21, 1929, defrauded the city out of $1,334.83 in trades for disinfectants with the Puritan Chemical Company, the rebate checks being made to White by the company.

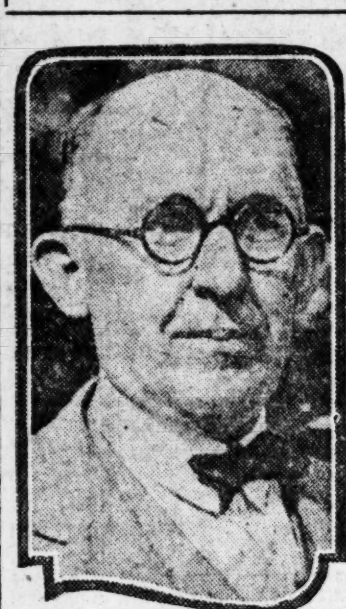

Other counts charge the trio with defrauding the city out of $94.51 in an automobile trade with the LeRoux Motor Company and of $82.51 in a delivery truck trade with the same firm.

Witnesses named in the bill against York, White and Price are N. B. Levy, of the Southern Sanitary Company; A. L. Feldman, of the Puritan Chemical Company; S. Selig, of Selig and Company; and W. H. Alexander, of the LeRoux Motor Company.

The letter, the indictment charges, was intended to blacken the honesty, virtue, integrity and reputation of Solicitor-General Boykin, and was intended to expose him to public hatred, contempt and ridicule. Jury Secretary Is Busiest Man In Courthouse

Press Huddleston, secretary of the grand jury, was the busiest working man in the courthouse Saturday. Several times during the morning Mr. Huddleston was seen dashing in and out of the grand jury room, in his shirt sleeves, with his hands full of legal-cap sheets of paper. Mr. Huddleston is the grand juror who had a large portion of the grand jury work fall during the term, a grand jury secretariat being something more than just a mere honorary position.

Like eagles scenting food came the gentlemen of the fourth estate to the third floor of the courthouse Saturday. The three daily papers had their mark on the job, and in addition to the routine newsgatherers of the courthouse and the feature writers, there appeared as staff men for the Associated Press and a capital correspondent of out-of-town papers. The main steps outside of the grand jury room were crowded with many sensational trials, was the grand field marshal for the sheriff's office Saturday, owing to the absence of Sheriff James L. Lafferty. Hardy, who had no more fear that any of the men indicted would run away, and that arrangements for calling up and notifying the witnesses in their indictment had been made, in order that the defendants could go down to Fulton Tower and post their bonds.

Director Milam
Is Given Watch
By Junior League

Immediately after the final curtain rang down on the Atlanta Junior League Follies of 1930 at the Erlanger Saturday night, Wallace Milam, of New York, who directed the production, was presented a handsome white gold wrist watch by members of the cast.

Prior to the presentation of the watch to the well-known director Mrs. John Knox, president of the Atlanta Junior League, made a short talk to the members of the company, in which she thanked them for the faithful work they had given toward making the 1930 Follies a success in every way.

During the final performance Saturday night patrons were given an extra added attraction in the personal appearance of Mr. Milam. With his dancing chorus, which has proven such a hit, he went through a demonstration of one of his rehearsal periods, showing the methods he has used in bringing the Atlanta cast to such a high state of perfection.

In responding to the gift from the company, Mr. Milam said that it had been a great pleasure to work with the Junior League in presenting this year's production, adding that, in his judgment, it had developed into the best amateur production he had ever seen.

What Shall I Do for Gray Hair?

By ALICE STRAWN

I am often asked for a good way to restore gray, faded or streaked hair, one small strand at a time. By morning the gray disappears and another application or two sees your hair beautifully and evenly restored to its full original color. There is no suggestion of that hard, dried look that repels fastidious women. I advise any woman—or man—whose hair is turning gray to try Wyeth's Sage & Sulphur. —(adv.)

Elliott Goldstein, son of M. F. Goldstein, prominent lawyer of Atlanta, is a budding literary genius from whom great things may be expected later.

He is only fourteen years of age and is in the ninth grade of the O'Keefe Junior High school. He will enter the Boys' High school next fall. He is the editor-in-chief of the O'Keefe Junior High paper, and recently won the award of the nationally known boys periodical, "The American Boy," for the best solution of its "Haunted Air Ways"—a mystery serial. The prize was offered to the boys of the whole country and there were hundreds of participants in the contest.

The first prize was won by Elliott Goldstein, who modestly says that it was simply "a stroke of luck," but those who have kept in touch with his literary work know better.

Young Goldstein is held in high esteem by the faculty of the O'Keefe High and by his associates in the school. He is being warmly congratulated on being the recipient of an award for which boys the country over contended.

Loan Association
Has Annual Dinner

Directors of the Standard Building & Loan Association held their annual dinner Friday night at the Blue Bear cafe, with Luther Still, vice president, presiding. The guest list included 50 a number being present as representatives of other associations.

The principal speaker was Horace Russell, president of the Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Russell confined his remarks principally to safety measures that such organizations should adhere to and to the best methods of progress.

Presiding the dinner the following were added to the board of directors: William S. Shelton, W. D. Beatie, S. F. Pitcher and Dr. W. M. McLaughlin. J. L. R. Boyd was re-elected executive vice president of the association.

The speaker is one of five brothers who received their degrees from Emory. His first degree was received there in 1914 and he was engaged in the soft drink and automobile business until 1922 when he entered Southern Methodist University where he received his B. D. degree. While in business he was the owner of the largest bottling works in Arkansas.

The Rev. Mr. Quillian has held similar conferences to the one planned for Emory at Southwestern and Southern Methodist universities.
